Future Of ABM Cloudy? More Testimony Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has emerged from Senate grilling with the image of a cool, dogged performer and an unshaken conviction he can win the White House case for a revised missile defense system.

But the question of who—if anyone—came out ahead in the administration's first Capitol Hill presentation of arguments for a Safeguard antiballistic

Students Receive Manual On How To Kill Policemen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "If you can't kill them, harass them."

That is one of the instructions in a pamphlet distributed to area college students on how to deal with police during campus disturbances. . . . complete with crudely drawn illustrations of how to make bombs.

It tells how a campus rioter can disable and maim police, police horses, photographers and even innocent onlookers during school disorders.

Doctors Admit Worry Over Ike's Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors, revealing for the first time that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered serious temporary congestive heart failure one week ago, say "he may well have less reserve strength than previously."

The physicians acknowledged Friday they were more concerned than ever about the chronic heart condition of the 78-year-old general who is recovering from intestinal surgery.

Despite this concern, a medical bulletin late Friday from Walter Reed General Hospital said "the general's condition today is favorable . . . he is resting comfortably and his spirits are good."

Word of the congestive heart failure episode came in response to questions as a result of off-the-cuff remarks by Mrs. Eisenhower and a little-noticed Wednesday medical bulletin from the hospital.

Mrs. Eisenhower commented at a fashion show that her husband has "good days and bad" and that last Saturday was particularly bad one. It was so bad, she said, that "I didn't take my clothes off for 30 hours" while keeping watch near the general's bedside at the hospital.

The medical bulletin, issued after President Nixon had visited Eisenhower for 20 minutes, said the former president had recovered from the immediate effects of Feb. 23 surgery for a gastrointestinal obstruction. But it also said Eisenhower "continues to be weak and his cardiovascular status remains a matter of concern to his physicians."

Judge Fines Linen Institute $35,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch assessed fines totaling $35,000 Friday against a Cleveland linen supply institute and four of its members, indicted last year by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiring to fix prices.

The institute, a trade association, entered a no contest plea before Judge Kalbfleisch March 5.

Sharp Fighting Reported On 3 Sides Of Viet Capital

SAIGON (AP) — Sharp fighting swirled on three sides of Saigon today following 30 overnight rocket attacks on allied towns and bases. Field commanders were alerted to be ready for an expected "high point" of enemy activity around the capital this weekend.

Allied forces reported killing 127 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in four battles north, south and east of Saigon. U.S. casualties were one killed and nine wounded, and South Vietnamese losses were six killed and 28 wounded.

All the U.S. casualties resulted from one four-hour fight in the Mekong Delta, 40 miles south of Saigon, when a Viet Cong force attacked 150 infantrymen of the U.S. 9th Division in night positions around the provincial capital of Ben Tre.

The infantrymen called in artillery and helicopter gunships shortly after midnight, and at daybreak the bodies of 42 Viet Cong were found.

On the outskirts of Tay Ninh City, 51 miles northwest of Saigon, 400 South Vietnamese paratroopers fought a two-hour battle with North Vietnamese units and claimed killing 40. Government casualties were five killed and 20 wounded.

In another fight 100 miles east of Saigon more than 100 enemy soldiers attacked a government military headquarters shortly after midnight. Spokesmen said South Vietnamese militiamen killed 35 enemy at a cost of one dead and eight wounded.

The fourth attack involved Air Cavalrymen of the 1st Division participating in Operation Atlas Wedge, a 10,000-man U.S. counteroffensive aimed at preventing an assault on Saigon. One unit ran into North Vietnamese troops 47 miles northwest of Saigon and called in helicopter gunships, which killed 10 enemy. There were no U.S. casualties.

U.S. spokesman said 300 North Vietnamese have been killed since Operation Atlas Wedge began Tuesday, but the bulk of the enemy force estimated at 7,500 men is evading contact and choosing its own time and place to fight.

About 200 U.S. air cavalrymen were pulled out of the operation today and an officer said: "It looks like they've done the most they can do right now."

Expect Nixon Policy Ruling On Campus Disorder Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An announcement by President Nixon on his administration's policy for dealing with campus disorders is expected this weekend. An Illinois congressman said it would step up enforcement of two existing federal laws.

There were new protests at several colleges around the nation Friday and two persons were hurt at a Denver high school disturbance. But students at one New Jersey high school marched to demonstrate racial goodwill.

At San Francisco State College the four-month student strike was over but acting President S.I. Hayakawa said he would wait and see whether the peace was permanent before deciding whether to grant protesters amnesty.

In Washington, after a series of postponements the office of Robert Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, said that the President would issue a statement on the disorders "in the imminent future."

Nixon originally said at a March 14 news conference that he would make the statement last Monday or Tuesday. Then it was said that Finch's office would set out the administration position Thursday or Friday.

Friday Finch's office said the secretary's recommendations had been sent to the President.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said the Nixon program would call for enforcement of statutes barring interstate travel to incite riots and authorizing the withholding of federal aid to students taking part in violent disorders.

Pucinski said the program was worked out at a meeting between Nixon, Finch and Atty. Gen. John Mitchell. He said he believed it would lead to "more accommodations than confrontations on the campus."

School March Is Friendly For A Change

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The public school situation here has taken a friendly turn that school officials in racially tense communities may want to copy.

In a demonstration of racial goodwill Friday, the 1,500 New Brunswick High School students accompanied by city and school officials linked arms and marched around the school singing.

The city's public schools have been the scene of racial unrest recently, and several schools were closed for a time to permit tempers to cool.

The march, planned in advance with sanction from city and school administration officials, was aimed at having "national implications," toward an end of racial demonstrations. School Supt. Morris Epps said Negroes and whites sang "God Bless America" and "We Shall Overcome" while parading around the block-square high school.

James Gittins, a Negro high school junior who helped organize the 20-minute march, said, "It was a walk-out to show the students' return to education."

The students said in a statement, "this demonstration is proof of the willingness of both black and white students to peacefully work out problems that have arisen."

Pakistan Mob Rule Claims 39

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — At least 39 persons have been killed in the past two weeks as a result of mob violence in the East Pakistani capital of Dacca, Radio Pakistan announced today.

The broadcast quoted official sources as saying antisocial elements were taking advantage of nationwide political unrest to indulge in arson, looting and other lawless activities.

Police patrols have been stepped up in Dacca City and troops are standing by, the radio said. It added that 45 armed persons have been arrested in connection with the disorders.

Say Nixon Has Viet Policy Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has confirmed the existence of private negotiations to end the Vietnam war and said if all talks fail the administration has an "alternative" to current policies.

Laird's disclosures came as a surprise when the subject of Viet Nam was raised briefly Friday during a Senate disarmament subcommittee hearing on missile defense.

To a question from Democrat J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, Laird said the administration is seeking peace "not only through formal diplomatic channels formally in Paris, but privately as well."

He did not elaborate.

There were published reports earlier this week that private talks may be going on in Vientiane, the capital of Laos. But Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, said he did not know about them.

The mention of an alternative to present policy came up in this exchange between Fulbright and Laird:

"Isn't it possible, Mr. Secretary, to realize that we are not now and never have been winning this war?" Fulbright asked. "If this administration continues and escalates this war in Vietnam, it will soon be Mr. Nixon's war."

"I want you to know," said Laird, "that we are hopeful that we will be successful in the talks . . . but if we are not successful, and we pray for success, I can assure you that we will have an alternative as far as the war is concerned other than the present conduct of that war."

He would not, despite Fulbright's urging, spell out the alternative.

Meanwhile, House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford predicted that there would be a new "military move" in Vietnam if talks fail. He said he thought there would be either a settlement or military action different from that of the past.

Laird and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, flatly denied Fulbright's contention that there has been escalation of the ground war in South Vietnam since the bombing of North Vietnam was ended Nov. 1.

Critics — including Fulbright — have contended increased American military activity led to the current series of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks against South Vietnam's cities.

Nixon In California For Rest, Work

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is spending the weekend in Southern California where he's thinking about buying a home and building a library to house his official papers.

The President and Mrs. Nixon, who flew here Friday, are quartered in a borrowed mansion high on a cliff overlooking the Pacific Ocean. Although aides said he had no plans to buy this particular house, they would not rule out the possibility.

The chief executive, already known to be seeking a summer White House in Southern California, also is considering selection of a site in the same general area for a library to house his presidential and vice-presidential papers.

The President was expected to issue late today a statement outlining his views on college campus disorders.

Among those who flew to Southern California with the Nixons Friday were Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, special assistant for national security affairs.

Asked why these foreign policy aides had made the trip, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "The President likes to use the time in flight for conversations."

On the return flight to Washington Sunday, the chief executive will be joined by Ellsworth Bunker, ambassador to South Vietnam, and Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, deputy commander in Vietnam who is becoming supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Nixon's five-bedroom, Spanish-style weekend home is an easily-guarded dwelling on a point of land bordered on one side by a Coast Guard station and reachable only by a long, dead end private drive.

Royal Engineers To Replace Redcoats On Anguilla Island

ANGUILLA (AP) — Royal engineers are on their way to Anguilla to replace Britain's sunburned Red Devils and try to save face for the Union Jack.

The Defense Ministry announced Friday night an advance party of engineers would arrive today to decide what projects might best serve the tiny Caribbean island's 6,000 inhabitants and perhaps quell the mockery raised by Britain's Bay of Piglets invasion there Wednesday.

Improvement of the partially-paved airstrip and installation of a telephone system will begin when a reinforced troop of about 100 engineers arrive within a week or so, the ministry said.

The frigate Rothesay, used to land the British invasion force Wednesday morning, is to depart during the weekend, followed later by the two companies of Red Devil paratroopers who came ashore to reassert the crown's authority over the Anguillians.

Events on the island indicated Britain plans to maintain Her Majesty's grip on Anguilla.

Secessionist Acting President Ronald Webster was barred from his office in the island's administration building. British Commissioner Anthony Lee moved his papers and headquarters into the building and said he would govern the island with the aid of an advisory board of Anguillians, for several years if necessary.

Say Teacher 'Tortured' Bad Student

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A woman high school teacher faces a hearing Monday in Niles Municipal Court on an affidavit filed by the mother of one of her pupils charging her with "torture, torment and cruel punishment."

The affidavit, against Mrs. Cora Beck, a McDonald High School mathematics and science teacher for three years, was filed Friday by Mrs. Catherine Phillips, also of McDonald, in behalf of her daughter, Octavia, 14.

Mrs. Phillips alleged that Mrs. Beck tied her daughter's wrists with a chain, displayed her before the class, and forced a muzzle over her mouth.

The incident allegedly occurred during a class March 14. McDonald school officials said Mrs. Beck resorted to disciplinary measures after the girl became talkative and unruly in class.

They said the girl had a history of bad behavior and that she accepted the disciplinary measure as a "joke" and was not otherwise disturbed by the application of what they said was a type of nurse's mask to her mouth and a small chain to her wrists.

School Supt. William Rea said Mrs. Beck had an excellent record since coming to the high school after graduation from Mount Union College.

Ray Lawyer Says Client Is Innocent

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray's new lawyer arrived today to visit Ray at the state prison and said he had new information which convinced him that Ray did not assassinate Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

J. B. Stoner, a Savannah, Ga., attorney long associated with the Ku Klux Klan, said he had been retained by Ray in his effort to win a new trial.

Warden Lake Thompson of the Tennessee State Penitentiary said he had not been contacted by Stoner but that the attorney would have no trouble seeing Ray if the prisoner wished it.

Ray pleaded guilty March 10 to a first-degree murder charge that he shot King in Memphis last April 4. Ray was brought here the next day to begin a 99-year prison sentence.

In Chattanooga Friday night, Stoner, 44, said he would be aided in the case by a Chattanooga lawyer, Robert W. Hill.

"I have some independent information about the Ray case from Memphis," Stoner said. "And from the information I have, I believe it would have been impossible for Ray to have been guilty of having shot King."

Stoner said he thought Ray had been pressured into entering the guilty plea because of national publicity which made it impossible for Ray to get a fair trial.

And as expected, the criticism came fast and sharp, accompanied by cheers for the senators and laughter for Laird from the ciety on the 18,000-student body campus of the University of Pennsylvania.

Along with copies went orders to circulate them widely, Rizzo said. A spokesman for SDS denied the organization has any connection with the booklet.

The booklet lists its publisher as the "3R News Service, Inc., San Francisco." No such firm is listed in the San Francisco telephone directory, however similar pamphlets with the firm also listed as publisher have appeared on the campus of San Francisco State College.

It prompts agitators to throw first at police cameramen to eliminate pictures of ensuing clashes.

The manual, Vol. 1, No. 1, gives other details on possible weapons and how to use them.

"If we are to free ourselves, we must out of necessity, strike at them as violently as they have struck at us," a preface says.

"It's terrible and outrageous," said Rizzo.

He said no attempt is being made to confiscate copies, but added he is taking steps to see whether any violation of city statute is involved in circulation.

A spokesman for the University of Pennsylvania said the pamphlet would not be banned because this would not "effectively curtail its distribution."

The initial issue promises in subsequent editions to highlight a revolutionary leader of the month, publish an assassination list, detail how to make napalm bombs and print a primer on riot logistics.

3 Indicted For Gambling

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two Toledo, Ohio, brothers and a Houston man were indicted Friday on three counts of using interstate telephone lines for gambling purposes.

Charged were Harry Shulak, 60, and Max Shulak, 57, Toledo, and Henry Abe Lesky, 63, Houston.

The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury after a week-long probe of nationwide gambling activities. Grand jury testimony followed a two-and-a-half-year investigation by the Internal Revenue Service and the U. S. attorney's office.

The Shulak brothers were charged with conspiring to place bets by telephone from Toledo to Houston. They also were charged with using postal facilities to send payoff money back and forth.

The indictments involve placing bets on football, basketball, baseball and horse races.

Nigerian Jets Down Transport

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian air force MIGs downed their first transport plane at Biafra's Annabelle airstrip, reliable sources said today.

Gerry Dyssen, Swedish director of the International Committee of the Red Cross, said the transport crashed four or five nights ago at the makeshift airport near the Niger river. He said the plane was not one of the Red Cross aircraft ferrying food and medicine to the secessionist state.

Nigerian air force sources said a DC-3 twin-engine transport crashed after a Nigerian MIG shot up the aircraft with a 37mm cannon. They said the plane struck one of the craters, lost part of its landing gear and flipped. The pilot was identified as a South African.

largely student audience that crowded into the cavernous Senate caucus room.

"Far less of a shield than a sieve," said Democrat Frank Church of Idaho of the $7-billion system President Nixon wants to deploy at 12 sites to protect the nation's deterrent missile and bomber force.

"Not a convincing case," said Chairman Albert Gore, D-Tenn. "Every witness outside the Pentagon knows it's not much good," said Arkansas' J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the parent Foreign Relations Committee.

"Cockeyed," was the comment Democrat Stuart Symington of Missouri had for a chart Laird showed.

It was the only chart of several that Laird got to show, although he kept trying throughout the day to have his deputy, David Packard, give the same visual-aid rundown that had gone over so well Wednesday and Thursday with the more friendly Armed Services Committee.

"There are a few things we want to get to first," Gore told the defense chief. But they never did get around to the charts and Gore said Packard could come before the committee with them next Wednesday.

Through it all, Laird smiled often, answering with methodical, well-formed sentences that struck a balance between the metallic, statistic-filled testimony of former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and the dogged repetition of policy that former Secretary of State Dean Rusk displayed.

Abortion Bill Has Clear Path

N.M. Governor Won't Interfere

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico Gov. David F. Cargo, a Roman Catholic, declined to endorse or veto liberalized abortion legislation Friday and cleared the way for the measure to become state law.

Cargo told the New Mexico Legislature in a written statement: "I am returning the bill unsigned because I do not wish to give my personal endorsement to this piece of legislation. But, at the same time, I do not feel that my own personal religious beliefs should interfere with the enactment of this statute."

The law becomes effective in three months and permits abortions in licensed New Mexico hospitals if two staff physicians agree that continued pregnancy would result in "grave impairment of the physical or mental health of the woman" or when the baby "probably will have a grave physical or mental defect."

Abortions could only be performed at the request of the woman or with parental consent if she is under 18 years old.

The law carries no requirement for residency in New Mexico prior to obtaining an abortion.

The statute also says no hospital will be required to admit a patient for an abortion.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 200 delegates gathered here today for a day-long semi-annual meeting of the Ohio Republican Council, with most attention focused on how to interest more Negroes in the GOP.

He and Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, were scheduled as main speakers at a banquet in the evening.

Other banquet speakers are State GOP Chairman John S. Andrews, and William O. Walker, council coordinator and director of the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations.

Southern California with the Nixons Friday were Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, special assistant for national security affairs.

Asked why these foreign policy aides had made the trip, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "The President likes to use the time in flight for conversations."

On the return flight to Washington Sunday, the chief executive will be joined by Ellsworth Bunker, ambassador to South Vietnam, and Gen. Andrew Goodpastor, deputy commander in Vietnam who is becoming supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Nixon's five-bedroom, Spanish-style weekend home is an easily-guarded dwelling on a point of land bordered on one side by a Coast Guard station and reachable only by a long, dead end private drive.

Royal Engineers To Replace Redcoats On Anguilla Island

ANGUILLA (AP) — Royal engineers are on their way to Anguilla to replace Britain's Anguilla Redcoats and try to save face for the Union Jack.

The Defense Ministry announced Friday night an advance party of engineers would arrive today to decide what projects might best serve the tiny Caribbean island's 6,000 inhabitants and perhaps quell the mockery raised by Britain's Bay of Piglets invasion there Wednesday.

Improvement of the partially-paved airstrip and installation of a telephone system will begin when a reinforced troop of about 100 engineers arrive within a week of so, the ministry said.

Say Teacher 'Tortured' Bad Student

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A woman high school teacher faces a hearing Monday in Niles Municipal Court on an affidavit filed by the mother of one of her pupils charging her with "torture, torment and cruel punishment."

The affidavit, against Mrs. Cora Beck, a McDonald High School mathematics and science teacher for three years, was filed Friday by Mrs. Catherine Phillips, also of McDonald, in behalf of her daughter, Octavia, 14.

Mrs. Phillips alleged that Mrs. Beck tied her daughter's wrists with a chain, displayed her before the class, and forced a muzzle over her mouth.

The incident allegedly occurred during a class March 14. McDonald school officials said Mrs. Beck resorted to disciplinary measures after the girl became talkative and unruly in class.

They said the girl had a history of bad behavior and that she accepted the disciplinary measure as a "joke" and was not otherwise disturbed by the application of what they said was a type of nurse's mask to her mouth and a small chain to her wrists.

School Supt. William Rea said Mrs. Beck had an excellent record since coming to the high school after graduation from Mount Union College.

The frigate Rothesay, used to land the British invasion force Wednesday morning, is to depart during the weekend, followed later by the two companies of Red Devil paratroopers who came ashore to reassert the crown's authority over the Anguillians.

Events on the island indicated Britain plans to maintain Her Majesty's grip on Anguilla.

Secessionist Acting President Ronald Webster was barred from his office in the island's administration building. British Commissioner Anthony Lee moved his papers and headquarters into the building and said he would govern the island with the aid of an advisory board of Anguillians, for several years if necessary.

Ray Lawyer Says Client Is Innocent

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray's new lawyer arrived today to visit Ray at the state prison and said he had new information which convinced him that Ray did not assassinate Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

J. B. Stoner, a Savannah, Ga., attorney long associated with the Ku Klux Klan, said he had been retained by Ray in his effort to win a new trial.

Warden Lake Thompson of the Tennessee State Penitentiary said he had not been contacted by Stoner but that the attorney would have no trouble seeing Ray if the prisoner wished it.

Ray pleaded guilty March 10 to a first-degree murder charge that he shot King in Memphis last April 4. Ray was brought here the next day to begin a 99-year prison sentence.

In Chattanooga Friday night, Stoner, 44, said he would be aided in the case by a Chattanooga lawyer, Robert W. Hill.

"I have some independent information about the Ray case from Memphis," Stoner said. "And from the information I have, I believe it would have been impossible for Ray to have been guilty of having shot King."

Stoner said he thought Ray had been pressured into entering the guilty plea because of national publicity which made it impossible for Ray to get a fair trial.

Soil Testing Gives Answer To Fertility

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

You can't look at a soil and tell about its ability to supply nutrients for top crop production.

Selection of the proper fertilizer depends upon a knowledge of the nutrient needs of the crop and nutrient-supplying power of the soil on which the crop is to be grown.

Determining the nutrient needs of your crops is comparable to diagnosing of human ills. The medical doctor observes the patient, obtains all information possible by questions, and then makes certain tests.

Similarly, you as an alert farmer can test your soil to determine its ability to feed your plants a balanced diet. A soil test will save you money by showing you how to put the "right" amount of the "right" plant nutrients on the "right" field.

THE fertility level of many soils in this county is too low for optimum crop production. For example, 60 per cent are low in potash, 69 per cent are low in phosphate, and 56 per cent are too acid for top production.

The question that every farmer should ask himself is: Do I know the fertility status of the fields on my farm? If not, "Don't Guess — Soil Test."

The recent good weather has been ideal for soil sampling. A record number of soil samples has been forwarded to the soils lab this month for analysis. Some fertilizer dealers buy soil testing now.

Waistlines are back and making fashion news! Getting garments with waistlines to fit properly may be a new skill for us after years of less shapely styles, says Mrs. Orena Haynes, Extension Clothing Specialist, The Ohio State University. She offers these fitting pointers.

Very little ease, if any, is needed at the waistline, so the garment should fit closely to the body. The waistline seam should stay hidden under the belt and should not show above or below the belt.

A person with very erect posture may find that the back waist length of a garment is too long. The result is either a horizontal fold above the belt or a waistline seam that drops below the belt. In a ready-to-wear dress, remove the excess length either at the shoulder seam or the waistline seam. In a pattern fold out the excess by taking a tuck across the pattern. This fold may be made in the armseye area or the underarm area, depending on the individual's body build.

Round shoulders cause fitting problems, too. In this case, the back waist length is apt to be too short. It may be possible to let out the shoulder seams to give more length. Or add extra length at the waistline by using a set-in belt.

For prominent shoulders, the bodice back may need more length to cover a larger curve plus more fullness under the shoulder blade. Without enough fullness under the shoulder blades, the fabric is pulled toward the side seams at the waist creating diagonal folds or wrinkles. These wrinkles extend from the shoulder blades to the underarm.

To provide extra fullness, two or more darts may be needed on either side of the center back. Gather, pleats or tucks may give more flattering fullness than darts.

Always look for diagonal wrinkles — unless they are part of the style, they indicate poor fit in a garment.

For most families, household storage space seems limited, regardless of how much is available. This suggests that some space is not being used to best advantage.

Some ideas nearly everyone can use which will help make better use of existing household storage have been outlined by an Extension agricultural engineer.

Take everything out of storage, just as if you were going to paint. Next, sort items into four groups — never used, seldom used, seasonal, and often used. Then consider handling the items from each of these groups as follows:

Never-used items — send to Salvation Army or Goodwill.

Seldom-used items — store in garage, basement, attic, or give to friends.

Seasonal items — may need special wrapping, packing, boxing; store elsewhere.

Often-used items — these may be returned to storage, but before you do be sure these items are stored near the area of use and be sure the storage provides for their easy removal and replacement.

Heftier Cows

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The average cow in Pennsylvania produces 46 per cent more milk than her ancestor did in 1850 — 9,240 pounds per year compared to 6,320, says Dr. William F. Butz, professor of agricultural economics at Pennsylvania State University.

Recognition Given Ohio Volunteer 4-H Advisers

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Nearly 1,400 Ohio 4-H club advisers were recognized on March 20 for their service as volunteer leaders of Ohio youth. The 25th State 4-H Advisers Recognition Luncheon was held for them at the Ohio State University. Awards were presented to each of the advisers, depending upon their years of service.

Pickaway County advisers that were recognized for five and ten years of service as 4-H club advisers were: five-year award — Lawrence Carier, Paul Dean, Mrs. Ralph Dunkel, Mrs. Paul Fenstermaker, Mrs. Clyde Karshner, Leroy Newlon, Mrs. Paul Schein, Mrs. Lloyd Speakman, Gary Thompson and Charles Wright.

The 10-year award recipients were: Donald Archer, Robert Collins Sr., Mrs. Donald Hardman, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. Lloyd Minor and Mrs. Edward Spires.

SIX of those present each received a sapphire clover pin for 35 years of service. They are Mrs. T. B. Beck of St.

Clairsville in Belmont County; Earl Cook of Delta in Fulton County; Mrs. Avery Clapp of Spencer in Medina County; Mrs. J. V. Hess of Piqua in Miami County; Ruby Mann of Jerusalem in Monroe County and Mary Norris of Laings in Monroe County.

"Leadership — A Torch Held High" was the theme of the silver anniversary of this yearly tribute to 4-H club advisers. "Combined service of the volunteer leaders present amounted to 11,500 years," reported Albert F. Gehres, State 4-H Leader and Assistant Director of Extension at the Ohio State University.

Ruby clover pins were presented to 15 advisers with 30 years' service; emerald clovers to 26 advisers with 25 years' service; pearl clovers to 117 advisers with 15 years of service; gold pins to 335 ten-year advisers; and silver clover pins to 837 five-year advisers.

As a special part of the program, The Sears-Roebuck Foundation of Skokie, Ill., was presented the 4-H Buckeye Clover Award for outstanding service to the youth of Ohio.

through the 4-H program. Sponsoring training workshops for junior leaders and camp counselors as well as sponsoring the Advisers' Recognition Luncheon were cited as some of their contributions. The Foundation has also helped aid disadvantaged youth in several urban areas of Ohio.

It was noted that the organization has contributed to youth programs for over 45 years throughout the country. Ohio Cooperative Extension Service Director Roy M. Kottman made the presentation to Glenn Spoerl, Detroit Regional Director of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

DURING this year's banquet, special recognition was given to a number of volunteer advisers who have served the 4-H program for 40 or more years.

The annual 4-H Advisers Recognition Luncheon is sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, the Ohio 4-H Foundation, and the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service. Observing the 25th anniversary with the advisers and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation representatives were Sam Cushman, chairman of the Ohio 4-H Foundation, and Norman Mindrum, Director of the National 4-H Service Committee.

Plan Harvest Program Now

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Careful planning before you plant this year's corn crop can greatly improve corn harvest operations this fall, advises Delbert M. Byg, Extension Agricultural Engineer, Ohio State University.

The major factor is to select corn varieties that, when planted on time, produce corn that is ready to harvest during the normal harvest season or earlier.

The normal corn harvest season in Ohio is October 15 to November 15. But, during this period there are only about 16 working days without rain (nine years in 10) in which to complete the harvest. So, depending upon machine size number, and working hours per day farmers may or may not be able to harvest the crop on time.

If farmers find it impossible to complete the harvest in the allotted time, Byg suggests several alternatives:

PLANT a portion of the crop with a corn variety that will be ready to harvest by about October 1st.

Store the first corn harvested as high-moisture corn for animal feed.

Operate the corn harvester two shifts per day instead of one.

Hire a custom operator to assist with the harvest. As a last resort, extend the harvest season beyond November 15 — but do this in fields where livestock can clean the losses. Otherwise, your profits may be left in the field and become next year's weed problem.

Remember that grain moisture at harvest time is also important, cautions the engineer. Field-shelled corn that is to be marketed should be shelled at less than 28 per cent moisture. Field shelling at a higher moisture results in excessive corn fines and kernel damage.

Ear corn can be harvested at 30 to 35 per cent moisture provided heated-air drying is available or at 25 per cent moisture and less if corn is stored in naturally ventilated cribs.

Proper consideration of all the above factors can assure a more trouble-free harvest this fall. For additional information on corn harvesting, handling and marketing, you can obtain a copy of Extension Bulletin 502 from the County Extension Office.

See Shortage Of Palm Fronds

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Baltimore's wholesale florists say there is an acute shortage this year of the green fronds used in Palm Sunday religious rites.

The florists blame the shortage on heavy rains and labor problems in southern Florida, where most of the palm branches for the East Coast are grown. The branches are used by many Christian churches Palm Sunday to commemorate Christ's entrance into Jerusalem.

Without enough fullness under the shoulder blades, the fabric is pulled toward the side seams at the waist creating diagonal folds or wrinkles. These wrinkles extend from the shoulder blades to the underarm.

To provide extra fullness, two or more darts may be needed on either side of the center back. Gather, pleats or tucks may give more flattering fullness than darts.

Always look for diagonal wrinkles - unless they are part of the style, they indicate poor fit in a garment.

For most families, household storage space seems limited, regardless of how much is available. This suggests that some space is not being used to best advantage.

Some ideas nearly everyone can use which will make better use of existing household storage have been outlined by an Extension agricultural engineer.

Take everything out of storage, just as if you were going to paint. Next, sort items into four groups - never used, seldom used, seasonal, and often used. Then consider handling the items from each of these groups as follows:

Never-used items - send to Salvation Army or Goodwill.

Seldom-used items - store in garage, basement, attic, or give to friends.

Seasonal items - may need special wrapping, packing, boxing; store elsewhere.

Often-used items - these may be returned to storage, but before you do be sure these items are stored near the area of use and be sure the storage provides for their easy removal and replacement.

Recognition Given Ohio Volunteer 4-H Advisers

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Nearly 1,400 Ohio 4-H club advisers were recognized on March 20 for their service as volunteer leaders of Ohio youth. The 25th State 4-H Advisers Recognition Luncheon was held for them at the Ohio State University. Awards were presented to each of the advisers, depending upon their years of service.

Pickaway County advisers that were recognized for five and ten years of service as 4-H club advisers were: five-year award - Lawrence Carter, Paul Dean, Mrs. Ralph Dunkel, Mrs. Paul Fenstermaker, Mrs. Clyde Karshner, Leroy Newton, Mrs. Paul Schein, Mrs. Lloyd Speakman, Gary Thompson and Charles Wright.

The 10-year award recipients were: Donald Archer, Robert Collins Sr., Mrs. Donald Hardman, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. Lloyd Minor and Mrs. Edward Spires.

SIX of those present each received a sapphire clover pin for 35 years of service. They are Mrs. T. B. Beck of St.

Clairsville in Belmont County; Earl Cook of Delta in Fulton County; Mrs. Avery Clapp of Spencer in Medina County; Mrs. J. V. Hagg of Piqua in Miami County; Ruby Mann of Jerusalem in Monroe County and Mary Norris of Laings in Monroe County.

"Leadership - A Torch Held High" was the theme of the silver anniversary of this yearly tribute to 4-H club advisers. "Combined service of the volunteer leaders present amounted to 11,500 years," reported Albert F. Gehres, State 4-H Leader and Assistant Director of Extension at the Ohio State University.

Ruby clover pins were presented to 15 advisers with 30 years' service; emerald clovers to 26 advisers with 25 years' service; pearl clovers to 117 advisers with 15 years of service; gold pins to 335 ten-year advisers; and silver clover pins to 837 five-year advisers.

As a special part of the program, The Sears-Roebuck Foundation of Skokie, Ill., was presented the 4-H Buckeye Clover Award for outstanding service to the youth of Ohio.

through the 4-H program. Sponsoring training workshops for junior leaders and camp counselors as well as sponsoring the Advisers Recognition Luncheon were cited as some of their contributions. The Foundation has also helped aid disadvantaged youth in several urban areas of Ohio.

It was noted that the organization has contributed to youth programs for over 45 years throughout the country. Ohio Cooperative Extension Service Director Ray M. Kettman made the presentation to Glenn Spoor, Detroit Regional Director of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

DURING this year's banquet, special recognition was given to a number of volunteer advisers who have served the 4-H program for 40 or more years.

The annual 4-H Advisers Recognition Luncheon is sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, the Ohio 4-H Foundation, and the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service. Observing the 25th anniversary with the advisers and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation representatives were Sam Cashman, chairman of the Ohio 4-H Foundation, and Norman Mindrum, Director of the National 4-H Service Committee.

Plan Harvest Program Now

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Careful planning before you plant this year's corn crop can greatly improve corn harvest operations this fall, advises Delbert M. Byg, Extension Agricultural Engineer, Ohio State University.

The major factor is to select corn varieties that, when planted on time, produce corn that is ready to harvest during the normal harvest season or earlier.

The normal corn harvest season in Ohio is October 15 to November 15. But, during this period there are only about 16 working days without rain (nine years in 10) in which to complete the harvest. So, depending upon machine size number, and working hours per day farmers may or may not be able to harvest the crop on time.

If farmers find it impossible to complete the harvest in the allotted time, Byg suggests several alternatives:

PLANT a portion of the crop with a corn variety that will be ready to harvest by about October 1st.

Store the first corn harvested as high-moisture corn for animal feed.

Operate the corn harvester two shifts per day instead of one.

Hire a custom operator to assist with the harvest. As a last resort, extend the harvest season beyond November 15 - but do this in fields where livestock can glean the losses. Otherwise, your profits may be left in the field and become next year's weed problem.

Remember that grain moisture at harvest time is also important, cautions the engineer. Field-shelled corn that is to be marketed should be shelled at less than 28 per cent moisture. Field shelling at a higher moisture results in excessive corn fines and kernel damage.

Ear corn can be harvested at 30 to 35 per cent moisture provided heated-air drying is available or at 25 per cent moisture and less if corn is stored in naturally ventilated cribs.

Proper consideration of all the above factors can assure a more trouble-free harvest this fall. For additional information on corn harvesting, handling and marketing, you can obtain a copy of Extension Bulletin 502 from the County Extension Office.

See Shortage Of Palm Fronds

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) - Baltimore's wholesale florists say there is an acute shortage this year of the green fronds used in Palm Sunday religious rites.

The florists blame the shortage on heavy rains and labor problems in southern Florida, where most of the palm branches for the East Coast are grown.

The branches are used by many Christian churches Palm Sunday to commemorate Christ's entrance into Jerusalem.

Medic Gives Sirhan Liquor Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After drinking six ounces of gin in a jail cell test, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan became "like a wild beast" and began talking as if Sen. Robert F. Kennedy were still alive, a psychiatrist says.

"He never said he killed Kennedy," Dr. Eri Marcus told the jury Friday trying Sirhan for Kennedy's murder. "He kept talking as though Kennedy were alive. He said 'that bastard isn't worth the bullet.' With all the prodding he never said he killed Kennedy."

There has been testimony that Sirhan had three Tom Collins before shooting the New York senator in the Ambassador Hotel last June 5. Sirhan says he drinks.

The bartender's recipe for the gin mixture was duplicated in the drinks served Sirhan. Marcus described what happened next:

"Psychologically he went berserk. He was extremely agitated and restless and cursing and had to be physically restrained. "He kept grabbing at his throat. He said 'What the hell is going on here?' He thought he was choking. He said 'I'll get even with those Jews.' "I think he thought he was back at the Ambassador Hotel. Then he started talking about how 20 years were enough for the Jews and Kennedy didn't help them . . .

"The alcohol triggered off some sort of an irritation. He became sort of like a wild beast."

The defense attempt to save Sirhan from the gas chamber is based on showing "diminished responsibility," that he was in a capable of planning the slaying.

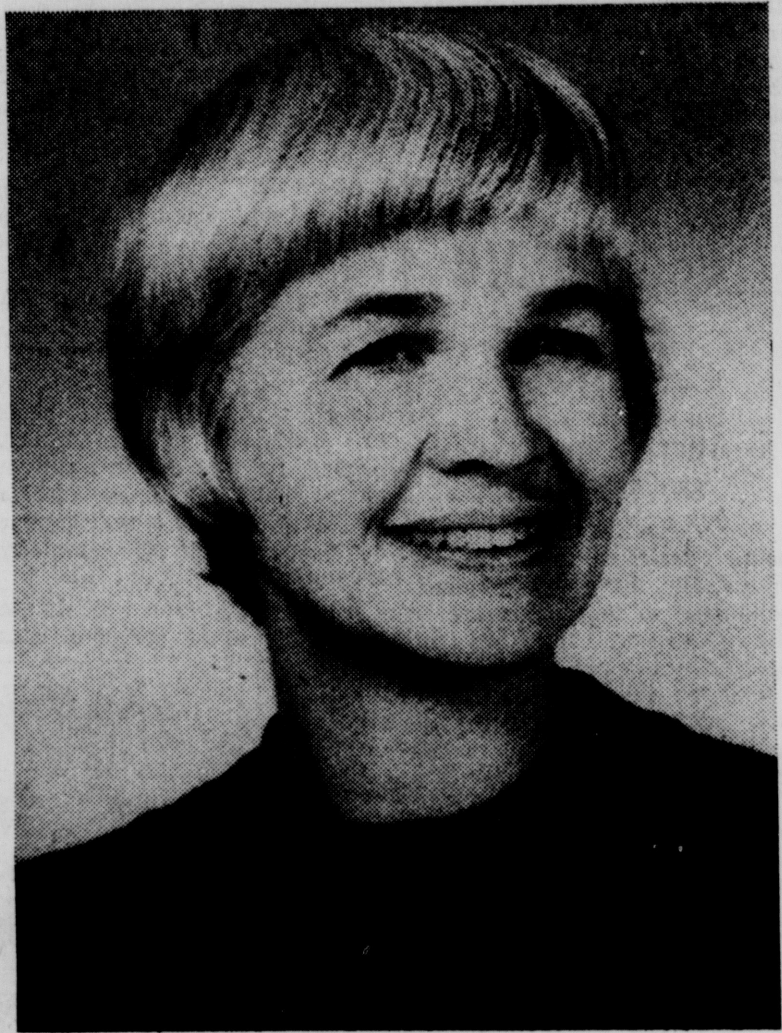

A second defense psychiatrist Dr. Bernard Diamond tried to reawaken Sirhan's memories of that night under hypnosis. He had barely begun his testimony Friday when the trial was adjourned for the weekend.

Marcus said Sirhan had thought about assassinations "for an awfully long period of time." He had been shown two books Sirhan used at a high school in Pasadena in 1964.

In one book, next to a passage about the assassination of President William McKinley, Sirhan had written: "Many more will come." In the second book, Sirhan had underlined a passage dealing with the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand of Austria Hungary, which touched off World War I.

CWB Announces Appointment Of Exec Secretary

SYLVIA JOHNSON

Mrs. Sylvia Johnson, Route 2, Williamsport, was named executive secretary of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Board at the March meeting of the five-member board.

Board chairman, Mrs. Roger Hedges, Route 1, Ashville, has been serving as acting administrator since the resignation of Ralph Starkey in October. Mrs. Hedges will continue in this position until June 1, when Mrs. Johnson will assume the executive post.

Mrs. Johnson, for the past two years on educational leave from the county agency to do graduate study, will receive her Master of Social Work degree from Ohio State University June 7. Her undergraduate degree is from the College of Wooster. Concentrating her study in social casework, the new executive brings to the Children's Service agency the new emphasis on family treatment.

"Behavior disturbances in the child are seen as symptoms of family pain," Mrs. Johnson explains. "Instead of instantly removing the symptom (the child), we'll treat the whole family together, trying to help them achieve satisfactory balance at home."

MRS. Johnson, who lives with her husband Alfred and son Steve on a Pickaway County farm, has been associated with CWB since 1963, when she was appointed by the county commissioners to serve on the Board. She resigned this post in 1964 to become a caseworker.

Mrs. Johnson has represented the agency in the Pickaway County Community Action Organization and the Community Comprehensive Health Planning Committee.

The Child Welfare Board currently employs one parttime and two full-time caseworkers and a secretary. Salaries of the executive and the secretary are provided by the county.

Caseworker salaries are paid by funds from the federal office of Health, Education and Welfare through the Ohio Department of Public Welfare.

Federal funding pre-supposes that caseworkers will utilize the educational leave program and is intended to improve services to children, particularly in rural areas. Cooperating by bolstering the quality and quantity of services, the local Board has received federal funds since 1964.

Assistant Police Chief Sam Moore said none of the patrolmen, all below the rank of sergeant, had contacted the department other than to call in sick.

The 15 officers on duty, including the police chief, were assigned 12-hour shifts. There were no routine patrols through the Butler County town and only telephone complaints were being handled.

The city's dog warden was reported mustered into service.

The patrolmen met earlier this week with City Manager Dan Kothe and demanded that a $9,500 salary be paid after two years of service. Patrolmen with two years' service now get $8,227.

Summit Sheriff May Lay Off 146 Employees

Commissioners Cut 45 Per Cent Of Salary Funds

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Summit County Sheriff Robert Campbell says a 45 per cent cut in county salary funds ordered by the county commissioners may force him to lay off 146 of the sheriff department's 185 employees.

If the layoffs are necessary, the sheriff added Friday, he will be able to put only three of the department's 29 patrol cars on the road.

The commissioners, faced with a budget crisis, said they had no alternatives to the salary cuts because of mandatory expenditures. They said the cuts affect all county departments except the courts and the county engineer's office.

The commissioners voted Feb. 21 to impose a one-half of one per cent piggyback sales tax to solve the county's financial problems. The tax, which would bring in an estimated $4 million a year, was to become effective May 1.

However, opponents of the tax claim they have enough signatures on petitions to force the issue to a vote. They have until March 28 to file the petitions.

Paychecks covering a two-week period were not received by 180 county employees Friday. The commissioners had appropriated funds for the first three months, until the county budget for 1969 was established in April. However, funds in the temporary budget were exhausted Friday.

Commissioners said future salary cuts would enable them to take care of the Friday paychecks. They ordered department heads to make the cuts as soon as possible.

New Book Tells About Planning Grain Storage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

No farmer is really content with any crop, no matter how abundant it may be, as long as it's in the field. Harvesting is often complicated by bad weather, high-moisture grain and limited storage facilities. The battle isn't over until every bushel of grain is sold for safely stored away, ready for use.

A single book is now available dealing with the whole, complex problem of grain and feed storage. It's published by the Midwest Plan Service and is entitled "Planning Grain-Feed Handling."

It gives a run-down on the best arrangements for a series of bins, and the reasons for the arrangements. There is also information on the various equipment available and necessary and the different components which must be assembled in a successful system.

There's no real trick in buying or building a bin or building to hold grain. Grain handling and processing equipment can be had for a price along with electric systems to operate and control it. It's a real trick, though, to match your climate, your land, your crop and your marketing method with the best and most economical storage units. And that's where "Planning Grain-Feed Handling" (MWPS-13) can help you.

MWPS-13 offers its reader the basic engineering information he needs to successfully plan a complete grain handling system. "Planning Grain-Feed Handling" is available from the County Extension Office, at 137 W. Franklin Street, Circleville.

Leigh looked back and found the man who was supposed to be steering the rear end of the truck was not there. . . he had apparently been left behind when the truck left the fire-house.

Community Attitude Aired In Local Jaycee Survey

The community attitude survey is designed to determine the communities desires and attitude toward certain community activities and areas.

The survey was taken by the local Jaycees on an average of 10 per cent of the homes in the city of Circleville and was taken in all sections of town and of all social economic areas to receive an overall average of the town's attitude.

Eighty-seven questions were asked with an average of seven possible replies available.

Questions that were asked were in the areas of city government, health services, housing needs and cost, youth and recreational opportunities for all citizens, religious activities, school programs, job opportunities of all age groups, cultural programs, local airport needs and non-food shopping response.

Persons interested in specific questions may contact the Chamber of Commerce local office. Also copies of the survey and the results have been distributed to the mayor, each city councilman, each county commissioner, the radio station, The Herald and the local Jaycee office.

Sirhan's loss of memory—which the prosecution calls "convenient" underwent close scrutiny in cross examination of Marcus.

David Fitts, a co-prosecutor, recalled that in the hours after Kennedy was shot, Sirhan—in a police interrogation room—never once asked why he was there.

Fitts suggested that wasn't logical for someone whose memory had been erased an Marcus agreed.

"That leaves only the hypothesis of malingering?"

"Apparently so."

"Then Mr. Sirhan lied to you?" Fitts suggested.

"That's quite possible," the psychiatrist replied.

Kennedy Urges China Changes

Would Give Reds Top U.N. Seat

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called for an overhaul of U.S. policy toward Communist China, including pulling U.S. troops off Formosa and giving Communist China a seat on the U.N. Security Council.

Kennedy, in a speech Thursday night, also called for removing all travel and nonstrategic trade barriers with mainland China and opening consular missions there until diplomatic relations are established.

The Massachusetts Democrat told the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations, "Surely, in the entire history of American foreign policy, there has been no fiction more palpably absurd than our official position that Communist China does not exist."

Kennedy, the Senate assistant majority leader, called on the Nixon administration "to rectify the errors of the past" by offering Peking "a clear and attractive alternative to the existing impasse in our relations."

Negotiations with the Communists should begin "at the earliest opportunity," Kennedy said.

The senator proposed that the China seat in the U.N. Security Council and General Assembly be given to the Communists. He said Nationalist China might retain General Assembly membership and that diplomatic recognition should be maintained with the Nationalists. He also proposed the "demilitarization" of Formosa.

South Africa To Ignore U.N. Pullout Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — South Africa indicated Thursday night it would pay no more attention to a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for it to withdraw from South-West Africa than it has to a similar demand from the General Assembly.

The council called for the withdrawal in a resolution adopted 13-0, with Britain and France abstaining.

"I can't see that this resolution has any meaning," South African Ambassador Matthys I. Botha said.

His government holds that the General Assembly acted illegally Oct. 27, 1966, when it declared that South Africa's League of Nations mandate over the big territory had been terminated.

New Book Tells About Planning Grain Storage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

No farmer is really content with any crop, no matter how abundant it may be, as long as it's in the field. Harvesting is often complicated by bad weather, high-moisture grain and limited storage facilities. The battle isn't over until every bushel of grain is sold for safely stored away, ready for use.

A single book is now available dealing with the whole, complex problem of grain and feed storage. It's published by the Midwest Plan Service and entitled "Planning Grain-Feed Handling."

It gives a run-down on the best arrangements for a series of bins, and the reasons for the arrangements. There is also information on the various equipment available and necessary and the different components which must be assembled in a successful system.

There's no real trick in buying or building a bin or building to hold grain. Grain handling and processing equipment can be had for a price along with electric systems to operate and control it. It's a real trick, though, to match your climate, your land, your crop and your marketing method with the best and most economical storage units. And that's where "Planning Grain-Feed Handling" (MWPS-13) can help you.

MWPS-13 offers its reader the basic engineering information he needs to successfully plan a complete grain handling system. "Planning Grain-Feed Handling" is available from the County Extension Office, at 137 W. Franklin Street, Circleville.

Leigh looked back and found the man who was supposed to be steering the rear end of the truck was not there. . . he had apparently been left behind when the truck left the firehouse.

Community Attitude Aired In Local Jaycee Survey

The community attitude survey is designed to determine the communities desires and attitude toward certain community activities and areas.

The survey was taken by the local Jaycees on an average of 10 per cent of the homes in the city of Circleville and was taken in all sections of town and of all social economic areas to receive an overall average of the total towns attitude.

Eighty-seven questions were asked with an average of seven possible replies available. Questions that were asked were in the areas of city government, health services, housing needs and cost, youth and recreational opportunities for all citizens, religious activities, school programs, job opportunities of all age groups, cultural programs, local airport needs and non-food shopping response.

Persons interested in specific questions may contact the Chamber of Commerce local office. Also copies of the survey and the results have been distributed to the mayor, each city councilman, each county commissioner, the radio station, The Herald and the local Jaycee office.

Saxbe And Young Named For Journeys

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Sens. Stephen M. Young and William B. Saxbe were named Thursday by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to participate in junkets outside the United States during the congressional Easter recess.

Young, a Democrat, will be in a delegation attending sessions of the Interparliamentary Union at Vienna, Austria, April 7-13. Saxbe, a Republican, was named to a group that will attend the 9th Mexico-U.S. interparliamentary Conference in three Mexican cities April 2-9.

Sterling Lewis Sentence Delayed

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Sentencing of Sterling Lewis, convicted last month of conspiracy to defraud the Hocking Valley Hospital has been postponed by Common Pleas Judge Earl D. Parker for probation investigation.

The judge said the investigation is required for consideration of probation for the former laboratory chief of the hospital.

Lewis and his wife, Libby, were found guilty on the charges of conspiring to defraud the hospital.

Navy Brass Next

The five admirals who constitute the Navy's court of inquiry have retired to pass judgment on Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher's conduct during the North Koreans' seizure of the USS Pueblo.

From all that can be gleaned from the public testimony, the wrong defendant was in the dock. The Navy, not Cmdr. Bucher, belong there.

It's true the Pueblo's commander didn't fight to save his ship. For obviously good reason. The two antique .50 caliber machine guns mounted on the crusty old vessel were caked with ice and hopelessly outpowered.

It's true as well he permitted intelligence material to fall to the communists. This wouldn't have happened if the Navy previously had fulfilled his request for modern "destruct" equipment.

In the critical half-hour before the Pueblo was boarded, its crewmen had to flail away with axes and makeshift explosives that injured some of them.

The Navy, not Cmdr. Bucher, was responsible for outfitting the Pueblo. The high command in Washington, not Cmdr. Bucher, was responsible for providing aid for the Pueblo in time of distress.

In both cases the brass was abysmally deficient.

To the initiated it is shocking to discover that a warning from the National Security Agency should pass around the world without reaching the high officials for whom it was intended. The NSA cautioned that the danger of the Pueblo's mission had been underestimated and that the ship should therefore receive protection.

More appalling was the off-hand response of the commander of U. S. naval forces in the Pacific to the effect that "these messages come through all the time." What better reason for ignoring them?

His request for reassignment to sea duty denied, Cmdr. Bucher must await the Navy court's finding while manning a desk on the beach.

Whatever the verdict, it's clear the next case should place on trial those responsible for the Pueblo mess — not its victims.

Young Geniuses

Of the nation's 200 million people, 70 million are children under age 17. And of these one per cent, or 700,000, are potential geniuses. That's the estimate of one educator.

He says it is of paramount importance to develop intellectual curiosity in such a child and to stimulate his interest in a wide variety of subjects even before he reaches school age.

And then what? When he goes to school and parades his knowledge before classmates of lesser intellectual endowments, he gets slams, slurs and disparagements as is the nature of children.

Does genius end there, is it isolated at the loss of many childhood enjoyments or does the tender genius just forget about it until he gets through school in the hope that his endowments will come alive again?

According To Boyle

By JOE WING (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you been embarrassed lately by mistaking a him for a her, or a her for a him?

Well, don't let it worry you. It's happening to everybody. Such mixups are quite normal, considering how much alike the two sexes think, talk, dress, act and look today.

It all started some years ago when the boys started imitating the girls. Now it is somewhat difficult to be sure who is imitating whom.

However, despite the present complexity of the problem, it is still possible for a careful student of human behavior to determine the sex of most of those he meets. There are always tips-offs of one kind or another.

Here are a few hints to guide the puzzled:

If it can hang by its heels from a playground iron bar, it's a boy. If it likes someone else to carry its books home from school, it's a girl.

Does it wear an itty-bitty watch surrounded by diamond chips? That's a young lady. Does it wear a larger watch with a metal or leather band? That's a young man.

If it can sew on a button without sticking the needle into its fingers, it's a woman. If it complains about how tired it is from sowing wild oats, it's a man.

Does it like a tuna fish or peanut butter and jelly sandwich for lunch? Chances are it's feminine. Would it rather have a ham and egg sandwich? Chances are it's masculine.

Does it rush out to the icebox to get a cold beer at every third commercial on a television program? That's the papa. Does it simply murmur acidly, "Sooner or later you're going to turn into a beer can"? That's the mama.

Choice of words is sometimes an indication. If it says it's going to work, it's a Joe. If, preferring to employ a euphemism, it says it "goes to business" it's a career Jane.

If it likes to gossip with its hairdresser while getting its tresses trimmed, it's a girl. If it closes its eyes and dozes the moment it sits down in a barber chair, it's a guy.

Does it count the years, months, days, hours and minutes until it will be able to retire? That's grandpa. Does it say in exasperation, "You know you'd never be happy just sitting around the house doing nothing..."

Dear Editor:
I wish to commend the commissioners and their present efforts to solve the solid disposal (dump) problem. I speak as a resident on Canal Road along the Scioto River who has been harassed by the Circleville community's irresponsibility to this problem for many years. I feel our community should back our commissioners on this problem — a problem they have inherited because city council and past commissioners have avoided the issue for many years.

I can sympathize with the residents of Washington Township, however it need not be the problem Wayne has faced if we, as citizens, demand and get proper management and law enforcement from our elected officials. Unlike west of the river, Washington Township is located in the same school tax district that enjoys the benefits of our industrial complex south of Circleville. Since this industry has compounded our sanitary disposal problems it is not justice that this area assume the responsibility?

For several years we farmers have pleaded with our elected officials for a publicly owned and managed sanitary landfill facility which can be operated as a profitable service to the entire community. Then if it is not operated properly over a period of time it will be the citizens responsibility to elect different officials.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A NEATLY DRESSED lady entered a lunch room recently, calmly ordered five glasses and a spoon, filled the glasses with varying amounts of water, and proceeded to play "Melancholy Baby" on them. Other customers stopped eating to applaud her performance, and the irate proprietor told her angrily, "Hey, you can't do that in here! Why don't you play your song with glasses in your own kitchen?" "I can't," she explained patiently. "All we've got home is paper cups."

A brand new lawyer, obviously not destined to be another Justice Holmes, was involved in a case where one woman had reviled another in a tirade that attracted the attention of a dozen horrified neighbors. He directed his client to tell the court exactly what names the accused had called her. "Oh, I just couldn't," she gasped. "Her language wasn't fit for any decent person to hear."

"Never mind, then," agreed the new lawyer. "Just step over and whisper it to the judge."

Old Groucho Marx fans still chuckle gleefully over his antics as "Dr. Quackenbush" in that vintage movie, "A Day at the Races." Remember the moment when the good doctor felt a patient's pulse, and then pronounced, "Either my watch has stopped or this poor man is dead?"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Horses (of all people!) have been contributing scientific information about emphysema, one of the dreaded chronic lung conditions of modern civilization. Dr. Gerald L. Crenshaw, at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Oakland, California, took advantage of the fact that horses are one of the rare animals that can develop emphysema that strikes the human.

His studies of horses have contributed vital information about this chronic lung condition. He has learned that in addition to cigarette tobacco, smog and chemical air-pollution there may be some circulatory disturbances that cause emphysema. Perhaps this additional information gleaned from the experimentation with horses may eventually prevent this disastrous lung condition which makes chronic invalids of young and old might-have-been-healthy adults.

The wide use of contact lenses has led some people to purchase them without the important examination by the ophthalmologist or eye specialist. The tempting advertisements of "new scientific marvels" are hard to resist. Yet it is imperative that contact lenses be purchased and used only with the recommendation of those highly trained in the art and science of proper prescription.

There now is available a soft contact lens which first was introduced in Europe. These gelatinous lenses have some advantages over the firm, hard ones in use.

Dr. Ellis Gruber, at the University of Rochester in New York, is one of many specialists in diseases of the eye who has been studying the advantages of these soft lenses. He believes, as do other doctors, that the soft lens conforms to the eye somewhat better than the rigid ones. Foreign bodies are less likely to get under the lens and cause irritating inflammation. It is expected that soon more and more variations of these lenses will be used. There are many specific reasons why some people should or should not use this or any other form of contact lens. When cases are carefully chosen, the advantages are great.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — At sub-urban real estate agencies and in corporate offices they call it the crime rate rather than the prime rate, and no more than a couple of years ago the description might have been accurate. The prime rate today is 7.5 per cent, meaning that is the lowest borrowing rate for a bank's best customers for the very safest purposes. All other rates, for homes, automobiles, travel, boats, rise upward from this base.

Rather than being a crime, however, the situation Americans see evolving each day is a crunch, a shortage of lendable money, a shortage planned by the Federal Reserve and designed to force Americans to spend less.

This is the much heralded fight against inflation. By making money hard to come by, it is hoped that Americans will be prevented from bidding up the price of goods. But it is far from painless, as the Nixon people had hoped.

A crime? Some people think so, but in a strictly legal sense all official rates today are within the law. But only because usury ceilings were lifted, sometimes hastily, by state governments.

With some borrowing costs now at their highest since the Civil War, many companies have withdrawn from the market. That's one effect of the anti-inflation plan. But others, for various reasons, must continue to borrow.

Eventually, before deflation begins, this could mean even higher prices for homeowners and others who use the goods and services of such firms. More important, even, is the effect on potential home buyers.

High rates mean at least two things: First, mortgage rates are likely to continue rising. Second, no matter what rate a party is willing to pay for a mortgage, there's a real chance he won't obtain it, especially around cities.

Here's one reason why. If the prime rate is 7.5 per cent, it is unlikely that a bank will wish to deal in government-backed mortgages—federal housing or veterans—when the ceiling on such loans also is 7.5 per cent. Because of such rates, because of a shortage of lendable funds and because inflation has pushed $30,000 homes into the $40,000 category in less than two years, an enormous problem now exists in the housing market.

Painful pressures are thus being exerted on millions of Americans in the vast and growing middle class, people whose ambition — and sometimes only way of living gracefully — is to be a homeowner. It is a bit different with the large corporations, some of which are ignoring the high rates and continuing to borrow, partly on the assumption that what is high now may be higher tomorrow.

A Commerce Department survey indicates that corporate spending for new plants and equipment may rise 14 per cent over last year, or double the estimates of just a few months ago.

With such an inflationary threat before it, the Federal Reserve might be inclined to tighten the spigot even more, reducing to a trickle the flow of funds to banks in an attempt to parch the economy back to its senses.

Golden Era

AP Television-Movie Writer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The public's fascination with Hollywood's Golden Era continues undiminished, and hence NBC offered a special called "Hollywood: The Selznick Years."

The subject was David O. Selznick, famed for producing the greatest success of film history, "Gone with the Wind," as well the lengthiest memoirs. His life and times (1902-1965) were discussed on the special by such former employees as Ingrid Bergman, Katharine Hepburn, Rock Hudson, Janet Gaynor, Alfred Hitchcock, Joan Fontaine and Gregory Peck.

Henry Fonda, who never appeared in a Selznick picture, narrated.

Viewers saw glimpses of the notable Selznick movies: "Rebecca" and "Intermezzo," which introduced Ingrid Bergman to American audiences; "David Copperfield," W. C. Fields' only straight role; "Little Women," the Hepburn version; "A Star Is Born," (not the Judy Garland musical); "Spellbound," "Duel in the Sun" and, of course, "Gone With the Wind."

Also appearing on the show was Joseph Cotten, who occupied the unusual position of being close friend as well as contract player with Selznick. Recently he discussed his former boss:

"How would I capsuleize David? It might be easier if I hadn't known him so well. How does anyone analyze the motivations of love? It's impossible. Why do you love your wife? Why are you fond of a close friend? Because you appreciate their virtues and tolerate their faults? Why? "As for David, I had great respect for his taste, his sense of honor, his responsibility and his energy. And his achievements. Most of David's pictures were considered above par—or a lot above par."

Selznick suffered a decline in his later years, and some observers felt that he had expended his creative energies on "Gone with the Wind." He seemed to be attempting to recapture the grandeur of that singular achievement. "Maybe that was so," Cotten conceded. "But isn't that true? Somerset Maugham was always trying to improve upon his first book, and Ernest Hemingway was haunted by 'A Farewell to Arms.' And I suspect that Orson Welles has never gotten over his initial success, 'Citizen Kane.'"

3 WHS Band Members Set For Festival

By LAURA WRITSEL

For the second time in its five-year existence Westfall High School had three band members selected to attend the All-Ohio Music Festival at Ohio Wesleyan.

These three were Connie Lett (flute), Rita Ingman (clarinet), and Laura Writsel (trombone).

Jan. 25, these girls spent a grueling morning of tryouts and practice before lunch. Then after lunch, there was more practice. But in the long run, it was well worth it.

Under the direction of Mr. Cristo Yanculeff, the Black Band received a standing ovation for its efforts on such numbers as "Selections from Man of La Mancha," "The Impresario," "Carribean Fantasy," and "Salvation is Created."

The girls thought it was a very rewarding, exciting experience and are ready to go back again. They also thought Mr. Yanculeff was a great director, and they can hardly wait to get their recordings of the concert.

New York Exchange Sets Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange said Thursday it would make its first permanent move in more than 100 years to landfill site to be built by the city in Manhattan's East River.

The exchange's board of governors authorized signing of a letter of intent with the City of New York for a 99-year lease on the new site.

It will be located at the east end of Wall Street, about five blocks from the present location at the corner of Wall and Broad streets in the heart of the financial district.

The NYSE said the project, which will cost an estimated $155 million, is slated for completion by 1975.

NYSE Board Chairman Gustave L. Levy and President Robert W. Haack said in a letter to exchange members the building "must be completed by about 1975 if the exchange is to have the space and facilities it will need to keep functioning efficiently."

Plans for the new headquarters call for a 90,000-square-foot trading floor, more than triple the size of the present floor. The building will have the capacity for more than 8,000 persons, the number expected by 1980, the exchange said.

The exchange said it had outgrown its present headquarters, where it has been since 1865, due to an unprecedented increase in trading volume. The 1968 average daily volume was 13 million shares, more than double the 1965 average. Average daily volume of 17 million shares is expected by 1975.

The official announcement, Young noted, was not made until the next day.

The senator said Lindstrom refused to reveal how he obtained the information but reported it came from "a good source" in Washington.

Young identified Lindstrom as proprietor of the Church of Christian Liberty in Chicago and chairman of the Remember the Pueblo Committee, which the senator said is tied to the Liberty Lobby.

Atom Test Touched Off

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission fired an underground nuclear explosion Friday after evacuating a family and closing roads within 75 miles of the test site in case of an avalanche.

The AEC said there was no movement of snow at 11,918-foot Mt. Charles, and the unidentified family returned to its house at the 7,000-foot level.

Last month a natural avalanche knocked a house down a hillside and killed two persons. Since then the Air Force has kept planes away in fear that a sonic boom might loosen the heavy snow pack 30 miles west of Las Vegas.

The sixth explosion of the year at the Nevada test site was in a drilled vertical hole about 1,525 feet deep. It had the force of from 20,000 to 100,000 tons of TNT, the AEC said.

A test equal to less than 20,000 tons was fired Thursday. The biggest so far has equaled more than one million tons of TNT.

Circleville Garden Club Hears Talk On Rose Care

Miss Ruth Montelius was guest speaker for the Thursday evening meeting of Circleville Garden Club in the First Presbyterian Church. Hostess for the session was Mrs. E. A. Smith.

Miss Montelius used as her subject "Early Care Of Your Roses." She is a member of the Central Ohio Rose Society and American Rose Society. She said that rose beds should be cleaned about March 15 and a dormant spray should be used, but only when temperature reaches 40 degrees and remains for a few hours. She prefers dusts to sprays. She uses corn-cob mulch which she removes by stages. She fertilizes often and well and waters the roses when there is insufficient rain.

Spacing of new roses depends on the varieties growing habits. For show blooms she prunes severely and for garden display and beauty she does very little. She suggests obtaining these books, "Plant Pruning In Picture," by Montague Free, "What Every Rose Grower Should Know" by C. H. Lewis and R. C. Allen.

Mrs. Cecil Andrews reviewed the various varieties of new vegetables, flowers and plants. A large collection of catalogues were displayed.

William Cook, president, presided during the business session. He will serve as a representative from the club on the Historical Society planning and beautification committee.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt is a member of the three panel committee.

Members were invited to a tour the Monrovia Garden Club plans on June 24 to St. Louis, Mo.

Places were marked with white candles in handmade containers which were used as favors.

Mrs. Brooks said that the school was started on pure faith by a few dedicated people who felt that such a school was needed in Pickaway County. No money was appropriated so donations and a membership drive was made to begin operations.

An explanation was given on some of the methods used in teaching and training the retarded child. There are 39 people enrolled in the entire school including the three community classes.

The classes were formerly under the direction of the Child Welfare Department but is now supervised by the Pickaway County Board of Mental Retardation. The adults in the shop are taught how to make many useful things.

Mrs. Brooks said that in the near future it will be necessary for a levy to be brought before the people of the county to continue this program.

Dear Abby: Jealous Daughter Threatens Romance

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for three years and have two teen-aged children. A daughter and a son.

A few months ago my husband's best friend whose wife passed away last year started calling on me. We've known each other for 25 years and have the deepest respect for one another. We enjoy each other's company and it's so good to have someone to be with after all this time. (Yes, it could be "love.")

My problem is my 16-year-old daughter. She treats him disgracefully and insults me each time he calls. She has even given me an ultimatum, "If you really love me, you won't see him again."

Abby, I love my daughter, but I don't want to quit seeing this man. My son adores him. How can I convince my daughter that this is a respectful form of companionship? I've talked to her for hours but can't get thru to her. She won't let me minister talk to her either. Maybe she'll listen to you.

DEAR TRYING: Your daughter is angry and jealous because she feels she is "losing" her mother, after having recently lost her father. But that should not rule the course of your life, and you must not let it. Quit trying to explain your "feelings" to your daughter. Ask the family doctor to explain the facts of life to her. The girl needs help in understanding, but her problem should not be allowed to blight your own happiness.

DEAR ABBY: We have both been married twice before and each have children. He claims he loves me, but this is not the right time to get married. When I ask him WHEN will the time be right, he says he doesn't know, but his isn't it.

I help him with his part-time work, and I have carried a hot lunch to him five days a week for three years. Plus I do up his laundry and give him supper at my place every evening and he has ALL his meals here with me on week-ends. I go to his place to help with the housework since his daughter (17) is too lazy to do anything. Besides this I take care of my own house and work nights. I average four hours sleep a night.

I love him dearly and we get along fine. We spend so much time together lots of people think we ARE married. So why doesn't he marry me?

DEAR SUCKER: Why should he? He's getting the whole show for the price of the amusement tax.

DEAR ABBY: I have been living in an empty marriage (in many ways) for many years. We put on a good show, but are strangers who cannot even discuss our problems with each other, so we keep very busy each with our separate lives.

For some time I have been thinking of making a break, hoping to find a truly meaningful relationship. Am I crazy for considering giving up possessions and a comfortable place in society?

DEAR UNFULFILLED: When the chips are down, each one of us must decide for himself what is worth how much. Only you can answer your question.

DEAR ABBY: What's all this stuff in your column about whether or not a 15-year-old girl should ask her boy friend to give her kid sister a ride to school? Or should the mother take the kid sister? Why should any healthy normal kid who lives less than a mile need a ride to school?

I think it is absolutely ridiculous to see mothers and fathers hauling able-bodied children to school in automobiles when the 15-minute walk would do them a world of good. In a new generation we won't even know how to walk.

I grew up in a midwestern city and we walked everywhere, and I'll bet you did, too!

R. H.

DEAR R. H.: You can say that again!

Computer Gets Shaken Up By Simulated Earthquakes

SOCORRO, N.M. (AP) — A computer at New Mexico Tech has had the shakes lately, but will recover.

Scientists are merely subjecting it to simulated earth tremors in an effort to unlock one of the planet's mysteries.

The scientists are an explosives engineer and a seismologist embarked on a research project that might lead one day to accurate prediction of earthquakes.

"Learning more about earthquakes doesn't necessarily mean we can prevent them, but it might well lead to predicting them," said Merle Hanson, the engineer.

"There is very little man can do until he understands more about the causes and nature of earthquakes," Hanson said.

"We try to duplicate those things we can't see or measure." To do this, the computer takes a hypothetical block of the earth's crust and induces a shock at one point, much as scientists think a shock in the earth's crust produces an earthquake.

The computer then measures the effect of the simulated shock, printing the results on a chart just as a seismograph measuring a real earthquake does.

Auto Thefts Are Target Of Campaign

By MICHAEL S. HARRIS
Associated Press Writer

Within 150 miles of New York City, you can turn on a radio and hear this:

"What do they call a person who doesn't lock his car?"

Answer: "A pedestrian." It's not radio comedy. It's a small part of the biggest campaign against auto theft ever initiated in a single part of the country. The goal of the experiment is to cut auto thefts, a large and growing problem across the nation but particularly in and around New York City.

In the city, and adjacent suburban counties 120,000 cars were taken last year. Eight out of 10 were unlocked and four of 10 had keys in the ignition.

The slogan, "Lock it and pocket the key" is bombarding eyes and ears from all media. The campaign is a pilot project of the Anti-Car Theft Committee of the National Automobile Theft Bureau. Eighteen major insurance companies finance the bureau.

The campaign is running in newspapers and magazines, on radio and television and in a million leaflets being handed out on the street.

Another feature is the use of sports celebrities, such as Matt Snell and Emerson Booser of the New York Jets champion football team, who talk at high schools in the areas of greatest thefts.

William Boone, a spokesman for the committee, said:

"As we refine this program, find out which parts of it are most effective, we'll have to use it countrywide in the greatest trouble spots, including most of the big cities."

East, McKinley, Arcanum And Bridgeport In Cage Finals

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Hollywood script writer couldn't have figured out a better way to wind up Ohio's high school basketball season.

No. 1 ranked Columbus East battles No. 2 Canton McKinley tonight (7:30 p. m.) in a showdown match to decide the Class AA championship.

In a 2 p. m. skirmish, seventh-ranked Bridgeport tangled with unranked Arcanum to settle the Class A title. Both games are rated tossups.

The drama unfolded in Friday's semifinal tests of the 47th state basketball tournament when defending champion East climaxed day-long action with a razor thin 64-63 decision over Toledo Libbey.

Earlier, McKinley completely outclassed Dayton Chaminade, 78-46, to reach the state finals for the fifth time. Canton has never won the title—East is bidding for its fourth crown.

In the small school competition, Bridgeport survived a second half comeback to edge Fort Recovery, 69-68, and Arcanum, behind Dave Gray's record scoring outburst of 45 points, sided lined Portsmouth Clay, 76-61.

Coach Bob Hart's East team came within an eyelash of seeing its 47-game winning streak shattered. Bold Libbey, trailing by one point with 34 seconds left, waited for a good shot before Carl Ham fired with nine seconds to play. He missed.

But the Cowboys got the rebound and Dexter Holloway tried a jumper with three seconds to go. It hung on the rim for what seemed like an eternity and then dropped off into the waiting arms of Ed Ratliff. It was an appropriate retrieve for the 6-foot-6 East star, whose 24 points on 12 baskets in 19 tries paced the winners. But little (6-0) Dwight Lamar, who collected 17, came up with the key points.

Teammate Larry Walker made a key steal at midcourt and fed to the driving Lamar who sank his basket and was fouled with 1:25 to go. His free throw, for a three-point play, wiped away a 62-61 Toledo advantage and gave East a 64-62 edge.

It held up as Toledo's Abe Steward made one of two free throws with 49 seconds remaining and then the Cowboys missed their final two flings.

Steward capped scoring honors with 25 while teammate Ed Trail netted 18. But it was all in vain for the state's fourth-ranked quintet which failed to make a substitution the entire game.

Canton, paced by Player of the Year Nick Weatherspoon, had too much of everything and overpowered Chaminade.

The 6-7 Weatherspoon, hitting 12 of 18 from the floor and 4 of 4 from the charity stripe for 28 points, had strong support from Glenn Burt, Ralph Owens and Stan Rubin, who scored 16, 12 and 11, respectively. Dayton had one man in double figures, Dan Gerhard who totaled 11.

Now East, riding a 48-game winning string, 24 this season, and winners of 69 of 70, must get by the slick Bulldogs, who themselves have won 23 straight after a early season loss to Farrell, Pa.

Bridgeport, 25 - 1, got seven clutch free throws from Paul DaRe to ward off fast closing Fort Recovery. The Bulldogs held a 41-30 halftime advantage but Ken Heiby, scoring 24 despite an attack of asthma, led the late Fort Recovery charge that had Bridgeport hanging on the ropes.

But DaRe, who led the Bulldogs with 21, came through when needed most with his bullseye free throws.

Arcanum, 24-2, bolted out to a 10-0 lead over smaller Portsmouth Clay and built a 40-28 bulge at halftime.

The 6-6 Gray connected on an amazing 16 of 18 field goals and 13 of 16 from the free throw line for his 45 points. That broke two records and equalled a third.

When Gray scored with 31 seconds remaining, he broke the record of 43 points set by Mike Allen of New Lexington St. Aloysius against Westmont in 1954. His 16 field goals also cracked Allen's mark of 15 in the same game. But Gray, fouled on his final basket, missed a free throw that would have given him 14, one more than Allen scored 15 years ago.

The Darke County school was bidding for its second crown, having won in 1956. Arcanum also reached the finals in 1967 but lost to Strausburg. For Bridgeport, it was a first shot at the title and the fans should get their money's worth.

A total of 13,922 watched the Double-A twinbill while 13,865 saw the Class A doubleheader.

Alcindor Carries UCLA's Hopes Against Purdue Five

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Wooden, the UCLA basketball coach, was asked to evaluate the ability of Lew Alcindor against all the college players he has seen in a career spanning more than three decades.

Wooden smiled in that peculiarly shy, yet sly way he has, his blue eyes twinkled and he slowly held up one finger.

"Does that answer your question?" he asked.

Alcindor, the 7-foot 1½ giant who has, for the last three seasons, dominated the game as perhaps no other player in history, closed out his college career today, leading UCLA against powerful Purdue in the national championship game.

And make no mistake about it, he was the dominant factor as the Bruins sought an unprecedented third consecutive national title.

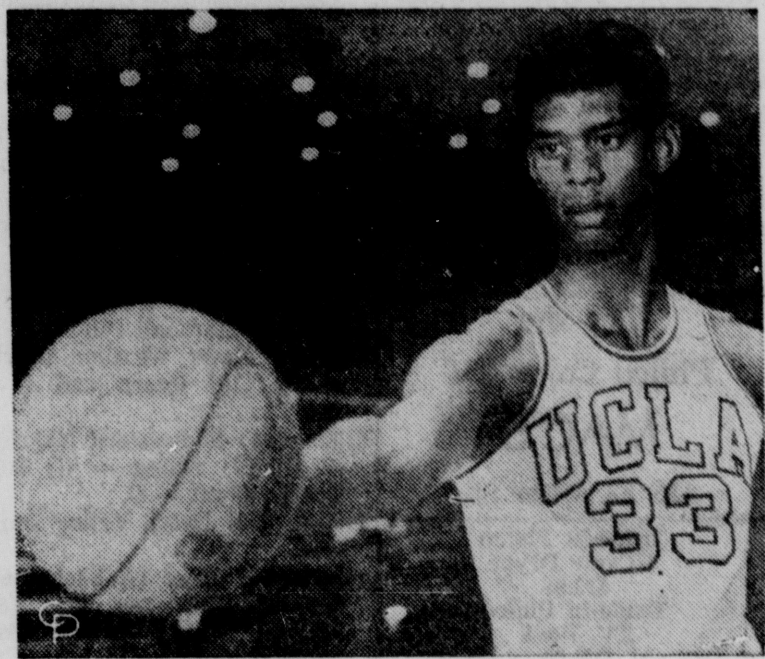

"He's just awe-inspiring," Purdue Coach George King said. "My big guys saw him against Drake in the semifinals and turned green."

"His just being in there dictates the offense and the defense opposing teams must play against us and, yes, dictates the offense and defense we play," Wooden said.

"He doesn't score as much as other players, perhaps. He might not even be in the top 10 or 20, but for his value to a team, for his over-all contribution, he has to be No. 1. If I were to start to pick a team, he's the one I'd start with."

Big Lew, a three-time All-American, twice Player of the Year, already winner of two awards as the outstanding player in the championship tourney, led the Bruins to a fantastic three-year record of 83-2 going into today's game.

ANOTHER HONOR FOR LEW—Lew Alcindor, UCLA's all-around basketball star, has just received the first Naismith Trophy ever awarded, from wire service which named him the "College Basketball Player of the Year." Earlier, Milwaukee won the right to negotiate for Lew's services in the National Basketball Association by winning a coin toss with Phoenix.

Baltimore Wins Eastern Crown
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Baltimore Bullets, the ugly ducklings of 1968, are the glamorous Cinderella team of 1969 in the National Basketball Association.

The Bullets clinched the Eastern Division championship by whipping the Chicago Bulls 115-103 Friday night. They thus became only the second team in NBA history to jump from last to first in one season. Indianapolis did it in 1950.

The New York Knicks, fighting to overtake Philadelphia for second place, crept within one game of the 76ers by routing the Phoenix Suns 139-104.

Boston walloped Cincinnati 145-119. Detroit downed Seattle 110-104. San Francisco edged Milwaukee 103-100 and Los Angeles scored a 118-103 victory over Atlanta in other NBA games.

12-Hour Sebring Race Under Way

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A field of 65 sports cars starting the 12-hour Sebring Endurance Race today included only 16 serious contenders for the championship, and some of the world's best drivers in those contenders would like to weed out the slower chaff.

"Does that car going 60 miles an hour add to the show?" asked Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., pointing to one of the slowest qualifiers. "I doubt that," he answered his own question. "You can see that on the freeway."

Andretti, a winner at Indianapolis, around the American big car stock racing circuit and all over the world in sports cars, had the fastest car in qualifying. His driving partner, Chris

Amon of New Zealand, was at the wheel of the brand new 12-cylinder Ferrari which turned a lap of the flat 5.2-mile course at just under 117 miles an hour.

Another major contender, Lucien Bianchi of Belgium in a new Alfa-Romeo, echoed Andretti's sentiment about racing fast and slow cars together.

"It's terrible," Bianchi said. "In Europe, there is a required speed to qualify for a race."

Mark Donohue of Philadelphia, second fastest qualifier in a Lola Chevy, wouldn't criticize the slow cars or drivers at all.

"If you don't like the guys you are racing against, you don't have to race," was Donohue's comment. "Let everybody race is the way I see it. It makes it just as tough on the next guy trying to pass in the turns as it does on me."

The fast field at Sebring was more diversified than in recent years. Two Ferraris, four Lola Chevrolets, three Ford GT40s, three Alfa-Romeos and five Porsches were the real contenders.

Others were racing for honors within various classes or just for the privilege of telling their friends and relatives how they competed against the best in the world.

Denver Rockets Defeat Houston, 133-123, In ABA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Jones boy was given a night in the American Basketball Association and came through with flying colors.

Larry Jones poured in 52 points to lead the Denver Rockets over Houston 133-123 in the ABA Friday night. It was Larry Jones Night at Denver and the former Toledo star became the first ABA player to score more than 2,000 points in one season. His 52 points, which equaled his own club record, gave him 2,006.

Jones, honored in halftime ceremonies, scored only three points in the first period before finding the range. He finished with 19 field goals, including 1 three-pointer, and 13 of 17 free throws.

Miami edged Oakland 124-122. Kentucky routed Minnesota 127-104 and New Orleans walloped New York 138-110 in the other ABA games.

Hamilton Leads Tribe Over California, 3-0

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Cleveland Indians Manager Alvin Dark took a long look at newcomer Jack Hamilton Friday and liked what he saw.

"Looked great didn't he," said Dark after Hamilton teamed with Sam McDowell for a tour-bitter as the Indians blanked the California Angels, 3-0, for their 10th Cactus League victory in 15 games.

Donn Clendenon struck out 163 times with the Pittsburgh Pirates last season, a new National League record.

Twins Try To Change Muscle Image

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — In the mind of the casual baseball fan, the Minnesota Twins are made up of strong, muscle men who hit tape measure home runs while grounders skip through their infield and fly balls drop untouched in the outfield.

Billy Martin, the third Twin manager in three years, is doing his best to change the image. He'll still take the homers, but he's determined to tighten up the fielding.

"We've got to stop beating ourselves," said Billy starting his first big league managing job. "Our big problem is to help ourselves defensively, and strengthen our relief pitching."

With three off days in the first two weeks and no doubleheaders until May 25, Martin wants to set up a three-man starting rotation for early season. The late starts of Jim Kaat and Dean Chance, a pair of late holdouts, has made his task more difficult. He counts on Kaat, Chance and Dave Boswell to be the Big Three of the staff.

Harmon Killebrew again is moving from first base to third, but will play some at first. The Killer missed most of the second half last year after suffering a ruptured hamstring muscle in the All-Star game.

"Rich Reese will play a lot more first base," said Martin. "Harmon will be at third most of the time but there may be days when we'll want him at first against left-handed pitching. We expect Leo Cordero to tighten our infield at shortstop and count on Rod Carew at second."

"If we get a lead we'll be making changes in the late innings for defense. We've just got to stop beating ourselves."

The holdouts of key men such as Chance, Kaat, Johnny Roseboro and Cesar Tovar forced Martin to present a scrambled lineup in the early exhibitions.

Tovar is the general handyman of the club. He played every position during a Sept. 22 game last year and his log showed 78 games in the outfield, 75 at third base, 35 at short and 18 at second. Undoubtedly he will be used in the same fashion this year, although Martin hopes he won't have to do any platooning at shortstop.

Martin's plans suffered a setback when Rick Renick sustained a fractured right ankle in a squad game. Renick figured as relief for Killebrew at third.

Carew ran into a September slump last season after taking a .301 mark into late August. Under Martin's coaching he was the Rookie of the Year in 1967 and should respond to the change in managers. Tovar may play second occasionally against left-handed pitching.

The regular outfield will be Bob Allison in left, Ted Uhlaender in center and Tony Oliva, league batting champion in 1964 and 1965, in right. Uhlaender and Oliva were lost for most of the balance of the season due to injured last August.

Graig Nettles, rookie who broke in last September with five homers in a four-game stretch after moving up from Denver, will be in the lineup either as a replacement for Allison in left or at third.

George Mitterwald, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder who hit .267 at Denver last year, and Roseboro, the 55-year-old ex-Dodger, will do most of the catching.

Behind the trio of Chance, Kaat and Boswell, the Twins look for Tom Hall, 4-1 at Denver, or Danny Morris, 16-15 at Denver, to fight it out for a starting job.

Jim Perry, a starter-reliever, will go to the bullpen as long man. Ron Perranoski is the lefty short man but Martin is looking for a right-hander. It could be Dick Woodson, a flamethrower who was 8-15 at Charlotte.

Local Attorney Officiates State Tournament Game

Allan Berger, 1038 Mulberry Road, officiated the first game of the Class A High School tournament Friday, along with Glenn Hursey of Perry County.

The two well-known central district cage officials worked in what turned out to be one of the closest games of the tournament. Bridgeport edged Ft. Recovery, 69-68, in the tilt.

Working a state tournament game is the "pinnacle of success" in Ohio High School officialdom, an honor reserved for only 12 of the many referees throughout the state.

Berger has 13 years of high school officiating experience. In addition the local attorney has refereed Ohio Conference college games for eight years.

Football Meet Ends; No Accord

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 26 club owners of the American and National Football Leagues scattered for home today, thoughts of 4-4-5 dancing in their heads.

They also were thinking of April in New York, because that's when and most likely where they'll start negotiating again on realignment for 1970.

The leagues recessed their winter meetings Friday night after making some progress in five days of separate and joint sessions but not nearly enough to determine the form pro football will take after this coming season.

The key to a solution lies in the 4-4-5 concept—divisions of those numbers of teams in two 13-team conferences. Using this philosophy, which the AFL likes but which the NFL is cool about, realignment could be achieved in one of two ways:

1. Move two or three NFL teams into the AFL. If two, divide the 12-team AFL into three units of four and the 14-team NFL into two fives and a four. If three, divide the resulting 13-team conferences into divisions of four, four and five. Each of the NFL teams would go into different NFL-AFL divisions.

2. Take the two four-team divisions in the NFL's Western Conference and place them with the AFL's five-team Eastern Division, and place the two four-team divisions of the NFL's Eastern Conference with the AFL's five-team Western Division.

While the first idea seemed far-fetched a few days ago because it seemed unlikely that any NFL teams would be willing to switch, The Associated Press has learned that at least one and possibly as many as three NFL teams have expressed some sympathy toward the move.

Baltimore appears to be the key team, with owner Carroll Rosenbloom reportedly willing to move if he can name the other team or two that would go with the Colts.

Minnesota and Dallas are other possibilities, although General Manager Jim Finks of Minnesota denied that the Vikings would go along.

The AFL, of course, would be delighted to have these teams. The NFL, on the other hand, is not exactly thrilled with the prospect of giving up three of its four division champions from last season.

The second plan would keep present divisions intact and would solve at least two problems. It would place the two New York teams, the AFL Jets and the NFL Giants, in separate conferences, and it would put the AFL Cincinnati Bengals in the same conference with the NFL Cleveland Browns.

When the AFL owners recessed after 9½ hour Friday, league President Milt Woodward said: "Our people are interested in nothing else but getting equality in the two divisions. We want equality. There's no doubt about that. We'll take any good arrangement of 13 and 13. We can work it out."

ANOTHER HONOR FOR LEW—Lew Alcindor, UCLA's all-arounding basketball star, has just received the first Naismith Trophy ever awarded, from wire service which named him the "College Basketball Player of the Year." Earlier, Milwaukee won the right to negotiate for Lew's services in the National Basketball Association by winning a coin toss with Phoenix.

12-Hour Sebring Race Under Way

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A field of 65 sports cars starting the 12-hour Sebring Endurance Race today included only 16 serious contenders for the championship, and some of the world's best drivers in those contenders would like to weed out the slower chaff.

"Does that car going 60 miles an hour add to the show?" asked Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., pointing to one of the slowest qualifiers. "I doubt that," he answered his own question. "You can see that on the freeway."

Andretti, a winner at Indianapolis, around the American big car stock racing circuit and all over the world in sports cars, had the fastest car in qualifying. His driving partner, Chris

Amon of New Zealand, was at the wheel of the brand new 12-cylinder Ferrari which turned a lap of the flat 5.2-mile course at just under 117 miles an hour.

Another major contender, Lucien Bianchi of Belgium in a new Alfa-Romeo, echoed Andretti's sentiment about racing fast and slow cars together.

"It's terrible," Bianchi said. "In Europe, there is a required speed to qualify for a race."

Mark Donohue of Philadelphia, second fastest qualifier in a Lola Chevy, wouldn't criticize the slow cars or drivers at all.

"If you don't like the guys you are racing against, you don't have to race," was Donohue's comment. "Let everybody race is the way I see it. It makes it just as tough on the next guy trying to pass in the turns as it does on me."

The fast field at Sebring was more diversified than in recent years. Two Ferraris, four Lola Chevys, two Ford GT40s, three Alfa-Romeos and five Porsches were the real contenders.

Others were racing for honors within various classes or just for the privilege of telling their friends and relatives how they competed against the best in the world.

Clendenon Tiff Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The controversy over Donn Clendenon involving the Montreal Expos and the Houston Astros hasn't ended, even though Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has stepped into the case.

The fuss began in January after the Astros traded Rusty Staub to Montreal for Clendenon and Jesus Alou followed by Clendenon's announcement that he was retiring from baseball to enter business in Atlanta.

Kuhn ruled Friday that Clendenon's contract reverted to Montreal and ordered the Expos to place him on the voluntary retired list by March 31 unless they can persuade him to play again.

Kuhn also upheld the Staub-Alou swap and told the clubs to reach an agreement on a replacement for Clendenon by March 26. If they do not, Kuhn said, he will hold a hearing March 27 to determine a fair settlement.

Kuhn's statement brought a retort from Spec Richardson, vice president and general manager of the Houston club, that in the Astros' view the commissioner did not have any right to make a settlement even though the Expos and Astros are at an impasse.

Baltimore Wins Eastern Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Baltimore Bullets, the ugly ducklings of 1968, are the glamorous Cinderella team of 1969 in the National Basketball Association.

The Bullets clinched the Eastern Division championship by whipping the Chicago Bulls 115-103 Friday night. They thus became only the second team in NBA history to jump from last to first in one season. Indianapolis did it in 1950.

The New York Knicks, fighting to overtake Philadelphia for second place, crept within one game of the 76ers by routing the Phoenix Suns 129-104.

Boston walloped Cincinnati 145-119, Detroit downed Seattle 110-104, San Francisco edged Milwaukee 103-100 and Los Angeles scored a 119-103 victory over Atlanta in other NBA games.

While the first idea seemed far-fetched a few days ago because it seemed unlikely that any NFL teams would be willing to switch, The Associated Press has learned that at least one and possibly as many as three NFL teams have expressed some sympathy toward the move.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORY
In Memory of Pfc. C. Robert A.
Derr on his 21st birthday, March 22nd.
Often the burden of loneliness seems more than we can bear.
We miss you so very much.
Our memories of you we hold sacred.
There will be no "Birthday Lunch" with a birthday cake, gifts and cards.
Given to you by us
But we know, you will dine with Jesus
To those who do believe.
He has promised this reward.
The Greatest gift of all.
Mother and Stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips, Sister and Brother

Trevino Joins 6-Way Tie For Jacksonville Open Lead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Lee Trevino, the volatile Latin who learned his golf playing in tenements with a Dr. Pepper bottle, threw down the gauntlet today to his fellow pros.

"I think I can win the Masters," the colorful Mexican-American, who is reigning U.S. Open king, said.

"All you got to do at Augusta is putt—don't three-putt any greens. And I feel real good about my putting. Honestly, I believe I can do it."

Trevino's confidence was buoyed by his second straight 69 Friday in the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open, which put him into a rare six-way tie for first place at 139, six under par.

Lee has pretty powerful company in the form of comebacking Arnold Palmer, who has shown he can still explode birds in the stretch; 41-year-old Lionel Hebert; Gardner Dickinson, the same age; Ken Still, who won a couple of weeks ago at Orlando, and the 20-year-old Bobby Cole of South Africa, who can belt a ball as far as Jack Nicklaus' despite a 135-pound physique.

This front-running sixsome has only a stroke lead over a half-dozen others going into the third round over the 7,221-yard, par 72 Deerwood course.

The runner-up group at 139 includes Australian Bruce Crampton, Jack McGowan, Ray Floyd, Bob Smith, Frank Beard and the astonishing Rives McBee.

McBee equaled the day's best round—a 67, shared by the veteran Bob Rosburg—and thus brought back memories of the record-tying 64 he shot in the National Open at San Francisco in 1966.

Boston College And Temple Clash In NIT Finals Today

NEW YORK (AP)—To National Invitation Basketball Tournament followers, today's final between Boston College and Temple brought back memories of the 1965 title game when Joe Lapchick lit his victory cigar for the last time.

No NIT matched the drama and nostalgia of that one when lightly regarded St. John's moved relentlessly past favorites and finally beat Villanova 55-51 for the title.

Perhaps no team ever played with such determination and love for its coach as the Red-men did for Lapchick. After the final victory, they swept him off his feet and carried him from the court, ending his 50 years as one of the great names in basketball, as a player and coach, college and professional.

"What a way to go out!" Lapchick said in the emotional locker room.

Bob Cousy hasn't been around that long, but Mr. Basketball still has made quite an impression in 24 years in college and with the Boston Celtics as a player and now with BC as a coach.

So much was he liked by his players, they couldn't do enough for him, and they proved it by winning their last 16 regular season games once he announced early in the year that he was retiring after this season. They added three more victories in the NIT this past week, another week of emotion. They wanted Cousy to go out on top.

U.S. Ice Hockey Team Faces Finns

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The United States amateur ice hockey team faced Finland in a key game of the world championships today, and U.S. Coach John Mayasich told his men:

"The Finns are a good team, and we've got to skate like everything to beat them. If we do it, it will mean a lot to the future of amateur hockey in the United States."

'Pinky' Higgins Dies; Ex-Red Sox Manager

DALLAS (AP)—Former Boston Red Sox Manager Michael "Pinky" Higgins, American League Manager of the Year in 1955, is dead at the age of 59.

A spokesman at St. Paul's Hospital said Higgins died Friday afternoon shortly after he was admitted to the emergency room with a heart ailment.

Cincinnati Reds Beat Pirates, 5-3

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The bats of four Cincinnati Reds veterans finally awoke Friday, made a prophet of Manager Dave Bristol and created havoc for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The four—Lee May, Tony Perez, Johnny Bench and Alex Johnson. Their awakening was a barrage of eight 12 hits for the Reds who won the exhibition, 5-3.

CAMP CASUALTY—Detroit's Bill Freehan holds his chin after getting his broken nose set. Bill's nose was fractured when hit by ball thrown by Jim Northrup in training accident in Lakeland, Fla.

No One Winner In SF College Turmoil?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A disputed agreement has supposedly ended a violent and bitter four-month student strike at San Francisco State College, but it has left several questions unanswered.

Who won? Are the college's troubles really over? Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president, hailed the agreement Friday in a long statement but said he would not get into the question of who won. Gov. Ronald Reagan called it a "victory for the people of California." Hayakawa, 62, a Japanese American semantist who took over Nov. 26, said terms of the agreement, worked out by a select committee at his behest, were not final and were merely recommendations to him. He had not signed it, and an aide said "he doesn't plan to." On the agreement's proposals for amnesty, Hayakawa said he wanted to wait until April 11 and see if strikers and their supporters behave. The 16,000-student campus will be closed for Easter March 29 to April 6.

"I had a meeting with them March 11," Hayakawa said later in San Diego where he addressed the bar association. "I told them, 'You claim to be leaders. If you can establish your leadership and keep the campus cool, I will withhold the penalties.'"

Turmoil on the campus has included mass marching, window breaking, firebombing, sabotage and class boycotts. Hayakawa said 60 per cent of the 678 persons arrested at the college were students. So far, an official in charge of discipline said, 20 students have been temporarily suspended.

Members of the select committee issued a statement late Friday, saying, "we urge his reconsideration of our recommendation concerning ... discipline."

The agreement, not made public until eight hours after Hayakawa's news conference, makes these stipulations for amnesty:

That students charged only with acts of "nonviolence shall receive a written reprimand," that students charged with "violent acts ... receive not more than suspension" through the end of next fall's semester, and that students charged with disrupting instruction receive no more than suspension for the remainder of the semester.

Many Killed As Brazilian Trains Crash

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A power failure triggered a head-on crash of an electric train loaded with workers and students and a locomotive Friday, killing 30 to 40 persons and injuring more than 300, police reported.

Line officials said the packed suburban train, heading for Sao Paulo was stopped by a power failure. A locomotive was sent out on the same line toward the train to help it into Sao Paulo.

The power came back on unexpectedly and the commuter train continued on its way unaware that the locomotive was speeding toward it. The two met with a crash that overturned three passenger cars.

Officials on the scene said many of the dead and injured appeared to be students heading for schools in Sao Paulo and neighboring communities.

Hospitals were flooded with injured and made appeals for blood donations.

Rescue workers between the suburban communities of Perus and Caieiras were hampered by live power lines and the wreckage of the train.

Officials said it would be impossible for some time to give an exact figure on casualties.

Little Joke

No Laughing Matter, Find

HARRISON, Mich. (AP) — Richard Foutch says he was driving north when he zipped past a southbound auto towing an open trailer containing a big bell.

Foutch, a Harrison antique dealer, turned to his wife, Judy, and jokingly remarked: "Hey, there goes my bell."

The Foutches, who had been on a 10-day Florida vacation, said they returned home Thursday and discovered that somebody took a 300-pound bronze bell from the grounds of their antique store.

Foutch said the bell, imprinted with an 1891 Ohio foundry stamp, was plated with silver and was worth $600.

When last seen, he said, it was southbound on Interstate 75 somewhere between Lima and Dayton in Ohio.

Protestors Claim Nixon Behind Indictments

CHICAGO (AP) — Two men indicted for their roles in demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention have linked the Nixon administration with the indictments, and one says the ultimate aim is a crackdown on campus disorders.

Renne Davis, 28, one of eight demonstrators named in indictments Thursday, said Friday the indictments were part of the Nixon administration's "broad strategy to clamp down on insurgents on the campuses."

He said "They (the indictments) marked the end of the 'new Nixon!'" Jerry Rubin, another defendant and leader of the Youth International Party-Yippies, said in New York that President Nixon was personally responsible for the indictments.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — Television commercials will be put under close scrutiny by the Federal Trade Commission in an effort to discourage deceptive advertising.

The commission said Friday its staff will intensify monitoring and auditing of national television networks and it is hoped the move will cause the advertising profession to reconsider "current campaigns in light of the announced position of the commission."

Complaints of deceptive advertising made by the staff as part of the investigation will be publicized, the commission said. Staff members will obtain copies of all network commercials used during a specified period for each month.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch will ask Congress to repeal an impending freeze on federal aid to families with dependent children.

He said Friday the limitation written into the Social Security Act of 1967, scheduled to take effect this July 1, "is not the way to curb welfare costs." Finch said it would work undue hardship on needy children.

Under the act, federal aid to state programs for helping families with dependent children would be limited to the percent-

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The office of J.B. Stoner said Friday that Stoner, an attorney with past connections with the Ku Klux Klan and the National States Rights party, will represent James Earl Ray in his fight for a new trial in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

A spokesman, Edward S. Fields, said Stoner is en route by automobile to Nashville where he plans to confer with Ray Saturday morning.

Fields said Stoner was hired to help Ray change his plea to innocent and to defend him if he wins a new trial.

There are now 27 Russian newsmen in the United States, "with most of them at United Nations headquarters in New York. The 24 U.S. newsmen in the Soviet Union are based in Moscow.

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin brought up the request for Tass to add one man to its Washington staff on March 8 when he met with Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

While approving of the request, U.S. officials prodded the Russians to lower some news barriers obstructing U.S. reporters in the Soviet Union.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says industry must give Negroes and other minority groups jobs at executive levels.

Speaking to "Plans for Progress," a voluntary group of 441 major firms pledged to promote equal job opportunities. Agnew said Friday they should work to help set up businesses owned by racial minorities even though it means more competition for themselves.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz told the executives "I expect to make no compromises" in enforcing federal regulations against racial discrimination in hiring by government contractors.

He said, however, that "it's only through persuasion that you get results that will last" in enforcing federal regulations against discrimination.

Nixon To Bare College Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Robert H. Finch has sent to President Nixon recommendations to deal with college campus disorders and students who disrupt the educational process.

Finch's office said Friday the recommendations are now under study at the White House and a statement by the President will be issued "in the imminent future."

The announcement said the President's statement "may be made tomorrow," and if so, it will be made public in San Clemente, Calif., where Nixon is scheduled to spend part of the weekend.

Laird Says New ABM Plan Urged Because It's Better

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird denied Friday that the administration dropped the old Sentinel missile defense project because of public protests, insisting that the change came "because we have a better system."

Laird said discussion of a shift from city defenses to the Safeguard system, President Nixon's plan to defend U.S. offensive nuclear bases with antiballistic missiles (ABM), was under way even before the public protests against deployment near Boston, Chicago and Seattle.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., told Laird it appeared to him the protests had led to re-examination of the missile defense program and the shift to "a completely different mission."

But Laird, defending the administration plan before members of a critical Senate foreign relations subcommittee, said the public protests were only coincidental.

Columbus BPA Fined $2,500

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Court Friday fined the Columbus Bowling Proprietors Association $2,500 after returning a guilty verdict on a price-fixing charge.

The action came after the association entered a no contest plea to a charge of fixing league and tournament bowling prices during a seven-year period prior to August 1967.

Trash Disposal Is Big Industry

A new concept of trash disposal is said to be not only capable of eliminating the problem of air pollution from incinerated trash; it is also expected to boost real estate values.

An entire new industry has sprung up to handle America's titanic trash problem — 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of solid waste products for every person. In fact, one company, Industrial Services of America, Inc., furnishes a complete service package for both cities and industry, collecting, processing, disintegrating, compacting and disposing of solid refuse.

The method of trash disposal replaces the old "city dump" and other sites with sanitary landfills which make the sites usable. Because densities of up to 2,000 pounds per square inch are developed, buildings can be erected on them in a relatively short time instead of having to lie idle for years. The result is increased land values. All this is done by separating, shredding, chemically treating and compressing the solid trash.

A contractor who tells you it isn't necessary to observe local building codes because nobody will know the difference is storing up trouble for you that will catch up with you in the future.

Judge Dismisses 4 Indictments

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — A Wayne County Common Pleas Judge has thrown out indictments against four of seven persons charged with conspiracy to defraud the state. The indictments were returned by a special grand jury in 1967.

The four, all of Wooster, are Louie Carter, president of Wooster Lumber Co.; Robert Smetzer and Robert Heller, employees of the company, and Ralph Long, former president of Inhoff and Long Appliance store of Wooster.

Judge Adrian Miller ruled Thursday that indictments against the four were in violation of their constitutional rights.

Say Ohio River Can Be Cleaned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some state officials expressed opinions today that the Ohio River may become as clean in seven or eight years as present antipollution methods can make it.

George Eagle, chief engineer for the Ohio Department of Health, explained that a river in a populous area such as the Ohio Valley will always have a high bacteria content as the result of regular draining runoff from the land.

This, he said, will prohibit the river from ever becoming a recommended swimming facility.

No One Winner In SF College Turmoil?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A disputed agreement has supposedly ended a violent and bitter four-month student strike at San Francisco State College, but it has left several questions unanswered.

Who won? Are the college's troubles really over?

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president, hailed the agreement Friday in a long statement but said he would not get into the question of who won. Gov. Ronald Reagan called it a "victory for the people of California."

Hayakawa, 62, a Japanese American semantologist who took over Nov. 26, said terms of the agreement, worked out by a select committee at his behest, ANGUILLANS HECKLE BRITISH SOLDIERS—On patrol in occupied Anguilla, British soldiers are jeered by Anguillians, the only opposition encountered by the forces invading to restore colonial rule to the tiny island in the Caribbean.

were not final and were merely recommendations to him. He had not signed it, and an aide said "he doesn't plan to."

On the agreement's proposals for amnesty, Hayakawa said he wanted to wait until April 11 and see if strikers and their supporters behave. The 16,000-student campus will be closed for Easter March 29 to April 6.

"I had a meeting with them March 11," Hayakawa said later in San Diego where he addressed the bar association.

"I told them, 'You claim to be leaders. If you can establish your leadership and keep the campus cool, I will withhold the penalties.'"

Turmoil on the campus has included mass marching, window breaking, firebombing, sabotage and class boycotting.

Hayakawa said 60 per cent of the 678 persons arrested at the college were students. So far, an official in charge of discipline said, 20 students have been temporarily suspended.

Members of the select committee issued a statement late Friday, saying, "we urge his reconsideration of our recommendation concerning ... discipline."

The agreement, not made public until eight hours after Hayakawa's news conference, makes these stipulations for amnesty:

That students charged only with acts of "nonviolence" shall receive a written reprimand; that students charged with "violent acts ... receive not more than suspension" through the end of next fall's semester, and that students charged with disrupting instruction receive no more than suspension for the remainder of the semester.

Many Killed As Brazilian Trains Crash

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A power failure triggered a head-on crash of an electric train loaded with workers and students and a locomotive Friday, killing 30 to 40 persons and injuring more than 300, police reported.

Line officials said the packed suburban train, heading for Sao Paulo, was stopped by a power failure. A locomotive was sent out on the same line toward the train to help it into Sao Paulo.

The power came back on unexpectedly and the commuter train continued on its way unaware that the locomotive was speeding toward it. The two met with a crash that overturned three passenger cars.

Officials on the scene said many of the dead and injured appeared to be students heading for schools in Sao Paulo and neighboring communities.

Hospitals were flooded with injured and made appeals for blood donations.

Rescue workers between the suburban communities of Perus and Caeiras were hampered by live power lines and the wreckage of the train.

Officials said it would be impossible for some time to give an exact figure on casualties.

Little Joke No Laughing Matter, Find

HARRISON, Mich. (AP) — Richard Foutch says he was driving north when he zipped past a southbound auto towing an open trailer containing a big bell.

Foutch, a Harrison antique dealer, turned to his wife, Judy, and jokingly remarked: "Hey, there goes my bell."

The Foutchs, who had been on a 10-day Florida vacation, said they returned home Thursday and discovered that somebody took a 300-pound bronze bell from the grounds of their antique store.

Foutch said the bell, imprinted with an 1891 Ohio foundry stamp, was plated with silver and was worth $600.

When last seen, he said, it was southbound on Interstate 75 somewhere between Lima and Dayton in Ohio.

Protestors Claim Nixon Behind Indictments

CHICAGO (AP) — Two men indicted for their roles in demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention have linked the Nixon administration with the indictments, and one says the ultimate aim is a crackdown on campus disorders.

Renne Davis, 28, one of eight demonstrators named in indictments Thursday, said Friday the indictments were part of the Nixon administration's "broad strategy to clamp down on insurgents on the campuses."

He said "They (the indictments) marked the end of the 'new Nixon'."

Jerry Rubin, another defendant and leader of the Youth International Party-Yippies, said in New York that President Nixon was personally responsible for the indictments.
